The Floods.

LONDON, October 26.—No further fatalities from the floods are reported.

Cardinal McCloskey.

A London correspondent of the Liverpool Courier says: "After Cardinal McCloskey's sojourn in Paris he will come here. The Catholics of London are preparing an imposing demonstration of welcome. McCloskey will be the guest of Cardinal Manning while here. It is said that a conference of the leading Catholics of South England will meet here next week to arrange a programme for a public reception to him. It is expected that McCloskey will make a tour of the Provinces. He will certainly visit Liverpool, and possibly Glasgow."

Parliament Further Prorogued.

LONDON, October 26.—The Official Gazette announces that Parliament has been further prorogued to the 15th of December. It will then probably be prorogued again to the latter part of February, the usual time for the opening of the sessions.

"STONEWALL" JACKSON.

The Statue Presented to Virginia by Englishmen Unveiled at Richmond, Va.

RICHMOND, October 26.—The formal inauguration of the statue presented to Virginia by a number of English gentlemen took place to-day. An imposing pageant and interesting ceremonies combined to make it the grandest demonstration ever witnessed in this city. The streets were filled to overflowing, and it is estimated that fifty thousand strangers were in the city. The residences were profusely decorated with evergreens and flags of all nations, the American and English predominating. The procession, which was magnificent and in every way successful, was an hour and a half passing a given point, moving rapidly, and was composed of all the city military, infantry and artillery, visiting companies from Norfolk, Petersburg, Charlottesville, Staunton, Williamsburg, and North Carolina, corps of cadets, surviving members of many of the commands of the late war, including those of the Stonewall Brigade, Catholic societies of Richmond, singing societies, etc., besides a long cortege of carriages and other vehicles containing many distinguished individuals. The colored organizations decided not to turn out. The procession was headed by General Joseph E. Johnston and staff, and followed by the Governor of Virginia and all prominent members of the Government and officials. As it passed the Central Presbyterian Rooms, at the upper windows of which sat Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, her daughter and friends, the enthusiasm was unbounded. The members of her husband's staff paid her a touching tribute, halting in front, and, with uncovered heads, silently paying their respects.

Governor Kemper made the introductory address, in which he spoke in the most feeling terms of the occasion and in eulogy of Jackson. Rev. Dr. M. D. Hoge was the orator of the day, and in his address alluded to the condition of the country, and said that a soldier's parole was a sacred thing, and the followers and comrades of Stonewall Jackson would be true to their parole and to the Union of these American States; but at the same time that Union can only command their heart's love when it returns to the great fundamental principles of the Constitution, which gives to all the States equal rights with Massachusetts and New York.

At the close of the oration the statue was unveiled amid the cheers of the multitude, the firing of musketry and booming of cannon.

General Jackson's only child, a little girl of thirteen, was introduced to the crowd, and was received with loud and continued cheers. The city to-night is brilliantly illuminated, and there is a beautiful display of fireworks on Capitol Square.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

The Shooting Tournament at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, October 26.—In the shooting to-day at the Tennessee sportsmen's meeting, the purse of $500 was continued from yesterday. The first money was won by J. H. Acklin, the second by Harvey McNeely, both of Memphis, the third by S. H. Terrel, the fourth by J. F. Wehol, both of Chicago, and the fifth by Charles Leland, of Memphis.

For the purse of $1,000 in to-day's match, twenty dollars entrance, fifty to fill or pro rate, there were thirty-six entries. The first money was won by J. H. Acklin, of Memphis, the second by H. N. Sherman, of Wisconsin, the third by T. J. South, of Kentucky, the fourth by Church, of Kentucky, and the fifth by Clinker, of Illinois. The sweepstake was also won by Sherman.

The Races at Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 26.—The opening races of the Washington Driving Park began to-day. The first race, 1¼ miles dash, fourteen starters, was won by Chance, Galway second, Joe Cerns third. Time 2:18.

The fourth race, Hurdle race 1¼ miles, over ten hurdles, seven starters, was won by Storm, Mollie Darling second. Time 2:30¼.

THREATENED INDIAN WAR.

Osages Dissatisfied Because an Agent Starts a Store With Their Money—Troops Called on to Preserve Order.

ST. LOUIS, October 26.—A special to the Republican from Garnett, Ks., says: Information has been received here from Indian Agent Gibson, of the Osages, that there is great danger of a conflict between the two factions of the Osage Indians, on account of dissatisfaction of the followers of Governor Joe Pownenoposhe with the management of agent Gibson in establishing a store with the Indians' money. Gibson, the Agent, purchased a large stock of goods against the wishes of the Indians, and proposes to run it to the exclusion of the traders. Gibson has telegraphed to Gen. Pope at Leavenworth for troops to protect him, and bloodshed and war may be looked for at any time.

NEW YORK.

Proceedings of the P. E. Board of Missions.

A Traitor to a Secret Order.

NEW YORK, October 26, 1875.

P. E. Board of Missions.

The Board of Missions of the Protestant Episcopal Church continued its session today, Bishop Smith, of Kentucky, presiding. After morning prayer, at which Bishop Talbot, of Indiana, assisted, the report of Bishop Williams, of Japan, was read. The report states that though the statistics do not show any great increase in numbers, still this fact is far more encouraging than ever before. There is a growing interest in the subject of religion, and the minds of the reading portion of the community are frequently turned to the subject by articles for and against Christianity in the daily newspapers.

The report of the Missionary Bishop of Northern California showed that there was great need of faithful missionaries in that region. A great drawback to satisfactory work is the nomadic character of the people.

The General Agent and Secretary of the Board was granted a six months' leave of absence.

It was suggested that it would be judicious to discontinue the publication of the Spirit of Missions and Home and Abroad, as both periodicals are in arrears. This gave rise to an animated discussion, and the matter was finally referred to a special committee.

It was resolved to hold the next annual meeting at Philadelphia.

A Traitor to a Secret Order.

At the request of Rev. Father J. V. McNamara, Chief of the Sacred Order of United Irishmen, the Redi Vivi members met in a hotel in Chatham street, to hold a court martial upon Thomas McGeaghan, accused of having betrayed the secrets of the order. It was a secret meeting, but it was subsequently rumored that McGeaghan had been adjudged guilty, and sentenced to die the death of a traitor. In speaking of the report, Father McNamara says he has no desire to contradict it, because, under the laws of all nations, the punishment of a traitor is death; but whether such stern justice is to be meted out to McGeaghan, he declines to say. McGeaghan, it seems, wrote to Father McNamara asking him to strike his name off the roll, his father confessor having told him he must no longer be a member. In reply Father McNamara told him that neither priest, nor Pope, nor Bishop, nor even God himself could make a man a traitor. He reprimanded McGeaghan for having betrayed the secrets of the organization, and cited him to appear before a tribunal of United Irishmen Redi Vivi. McGeaghan paid no attention to the summons, but was found guilty. The Order of Redi Vivi expect each Irish family in the United States to contribute twenty-five cents a month for its support. Father McNamara does not now officiate in the Catholic churches.

Business Failures.

Disoway & Hatch, leather dealers, Spruce street, suspended yesterday. Also, Oscar D. Dike, tea and spice merchant, Pearl street.

An involuntary bankruptcy petition was filed in the New York District Court against Messrs. Vyse & Co., by the attorneys for about forty creditors, representing claims amounting to nearly $600,000. The suspended indebtedness of the firm is nearly $1,500,000.

Merchants Censured.

The Board of Managers of the Produce Exchange adopted a resolution that the conduct of Archibald, Baxter & Co., as developed in their failure, and in circumstances antecedent thereto, is not such as is consistent with the just and equitable principles of trade, and, therefore, is deserving of severe censure.

The Business Portion of the Town of Austin, Miss., Destroyed.

MEMPHIS, October 26.—The Appeal's Helena special says: Last night at 12 o'clock a fire was discovered in the rear part of Dunaway's dry goods store in Austin, Miss., which spread rapidly and soon destroyed the entire business portion of the town, causing great loss to the people of that place. After the alarm was given every citizen turned out to assist in preventing the flames from spreading, but there was a heavy wind at the time and little could be done to arrest the headway of the flames. A fine business row, consisting of ten large business houses, was consumed. By hard work the flames were prevented from crossing the street to the residence portion of the place, which would have caused much greater loss and much suffering. L. M. Daring's grocery store, with the stock, was valued at $3,000, total loss; Askew & Co., dry goods and groceries, $3,000; Max Levy, dry goods, $2,000; T. Nibbets, grocery, $1,800; C. W. Dunaways, two stores, with stock, valued at $4,000, together with books and $200 cash, all lost; Henry Kahn, dry goods, $7,000; Mr. Leonhaupt, owner of the building, $4,000. In the second story was the Masonic Lodge, which also lost. Palmer & Frehevell, drugs, $5,000; Cross & Niblett's saloon, $2,000; McCann block, occupied by Jacques and Nelson M. Nathan, dry goods, and law offices, $6,000. The total loss will amount to $50,000 or more, on which there is very little insurance. The fire was undoubtedly the work of incendiaries.

LAKE DISASTER.

The Schooner Lasalle, One of the Finest on the Lakes, Ashore at Two Rivers Point.

CHICAGO, October 26.—Information has been received here to-day that the schooner Lasalle went ashore at Two Rivers Point during Monday night's gale. This is one of the finest vessels on the lakes, being valued at from $40,000 to $50,000. She had a cargo of 20,000 bushels of wheat, owned and shipped by parties in Chicago. The ship is fully insured in the Ætna Company, and the cargo is insured for $24,000 in the Phœnix, Pacific, Amazon and Northwestern. It is considered probable that she has gone to pieces by this time. The storm on Monday night was very severe, but up to this time no other disasters to shipping are reported.

Suit for False Imprisonment.

CINCINNATI, October 26.—The case of J. M. Tighe, arrested on a requisition from the Governor of Ohio, and approved by the Governor of Tennessee, for alleged obtaining goods from Proctor & Gamble, of Cincinnati, under false pretenses, was argued before the Probate Court to-day on a writ of habeas corpus, the Attorney General representing the State of Ohio. The Judge will deliver the decision to-morrow. In the meantime Tighe is released on $2,000 bail, and has instituted a suit against J. J. Smith and others, who arrested him and put him in irons, for $50,000 damages.

Jay Cooke & Co.'s Affairs.

PHILADELPHIA, October 26.—In the United States Circuit Court to-day Judge McKennan affirmed the decree of the District Court refusing to allow the Syndicate to prove against the estate of Jay Cooke & Co. claims amounting to $250,000, on the ground that the Syndicate was indebted to the bankrupt estate in a sum that reduced their claim to about $146,000.

Guibord's Remains.

MONTREAL, October 26.—The latest official news in connection with the Guibord matter is that the remains will be buried on the 18th of November next, having died on that day six years ago. The members of the Institute Canadienne have chosen the anniversary of his death for the day of burial.

The Langmaid Murder.

BOSTON, October 26.—Sufficient evidence has been found against La Page, the suspected murderer of Josie Langmaid, to warrant the Attorney General to summon the Grand Jury to assemble at Concord on Thursday to act upon his case. Detectives say the evidence is ample to secure his indictment at once.

TERRIBLE CONFLAGRATION.

Virginia City, Nev., Almost Reduced to Ashes.

Nearly Every Business House Gone.

Buildings Blown Up to Stay the Progress of the Flames.

The Fire Stopped for the Want of Fuel.

Over 10,000 People Rendered Homeless.

The Losses Up in the Millions.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 26.—Owing to the destruction of the telegraph office and the press of private dispatches over the lines, it has been difficult to obtain any connected information concerning the Virginia fire. The following, however, is undoubtedly correct as far as it goes: The fire broke out about daylight in a dwelling on a street near Taylor, a point at about the southwestern limit of the business and thickly settled portion of the city. It spread, extending eastward towards a ravine in which are situated the works and mills of several prominent mines, reaching as far as F street northward.

Ten Blocks in Flames.

The flames crossed Union and Sutton streets, covering a space of about ten blocks, comprising, in the words of one dispatch, almost every decent building in town. As the fire worked up C street the offices of the Territorial Enterprise and Chronicle were destroyed. Piper's Opera House was next in flames, and it became evident that the railroad depot and hoisting works of the Consolidated Virginia were in danger. The water supply was inadequate and the engines of little use. Recourse was had to Blowing Up Buildings.

It was too late, however, and in a few moments the depot and hoisting works were on fire. The latter were recently completed at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars, and were the finest on the Comstock Lode. Continuing to the north and east, the partially completed mill of the California Mine and Consolidated Virginia were soon in flames, which spread still further north to the Ophir hoisting works, destroying them also, which is about the limit of destruction in that direction.

The Fire Dying Out for Want of Fuel.

From Taylor street, near Church, it spread southward against the wind, destroying the branch of the Bank of California and Wells & Fargo's Express office, and everything else in its line. At this point the Gould & Curry works were in imminent danger, but were fortunately saved. In short, nearly the entire business portion of the town is in ashes. Hotels, churches, county buildings, newspaper, telegraph and express offices are all swept away.

10,000 Homeless People.

Over 10,000 persons are homeless. The wind is piercing, and much suffering is anticipated before temporary shelter can be prepared.

The Losses.

It is impossible at present to conjecture the amount of loss. The destruction of mills and hoisting works above referred to will probably entail a loss of a million dollars within a radius of a few hundred feet. Fortunately the shafts of both the Ophir and Consolidated Virginia were bulk headed and the fire was kept out of the mines. The Ophir men say that possibly their loss may be less than was at first supposed, as the building was of light frame and might burn without destroying the machinery. The loss of buildings and merchandise in the city must be very great, although covered to a great extent by insurance. It is not known to what extent the mills and hoisting works were insured, except the Ophir, where the loss is placed at from $150,000 to $200,000; insured for $60,000 in this city.

Excitement in San Francisco.

The news created the greatest excitement, owing to the contradictory nature of private dispatches received. California street was full of wild rumors, and telegraph and newspaper offices were besieged with people anxiously seeking information. As might have been expected, stocks fell, the effect of the disaster, and when the board opened, on the call of Ophir, there was a tremendous rush, the stock selling as low as 38½. Consolidated Virginia dropped to 210, but subsequently rallied. The talk on the street is very gloomy. At first it was supposed that the disaster would entail the necessary stoppage of all work in the Bonanza mines, and that the recently reported breaking of water would flood the mines, and a general panic and depression ensued. This, however, soon gave way to a better feeling. It was soon ascertained that the Gould & Curry works were all right, as were also the Savage. This was considered the key to the position so far as the stock market was concerned, as the Bonanza can and will be worked through the Gould & Curry shaft while the works of the Virginia are being rebuilt, and the Savage and Gould & Curry pumps are available to free the mines from water. It also transpired that the new hoisting works of the Consolidoted Virginia and California mine, known as the C. & C. works, were unharmed. Inquiry also gives out the fact that the insurance companies, thoughmany of them suffer heavily, will come up manfully, paying all demands. A large portion of the insurance is with foreign companies, who will be able to bear it, and local companies also claim that none will go to the wall. It was given out by those known to be "insiders" that the Consolidated Virginia would pay a dividend as usual, though probably at reduced figures. All these considerations soon had the effect to turn the tide of feeling, and now the general impression is that while the conflagration is seriously disastrous, its effects on the financial interests of California will be but limited and temporary. On the street stocks rallied and the feeling in business circles is greatly improved.

Aid for the Sufferers.

The agent of Wells, Fargo & Co. at Virginia City has telegraphed for aid for the people rendered homeless and destitute by the conflagration. A circular has been telegraphed by W. F. & Co., of this city, to their agents in the principal towns on the coast, directing them to send contributions of food, clothing and other necessaries to the Virginia agent, free of charge. The agent here has telegraphed $1,000 to Virginia on account of W. F. & Co. of San Francisco. The Board of Brokers, at the close of the afternoon session, held a business meeting, and $6,000 was subscribed in a few moments, which will be at once transferred by telegraph. The Pacific Stock Exchange will take action in the matter to-morrow.

Later from the Fire.

But few details have been received in addition to what has already been reported. It was rumored to-night that the Ophir shaft was on fire, but later advices report that the fire only extended down the shaft a short distance, being stopped by a bulkhead. The amount of insurance written in the burnt district is not ascertained, but it is supposed it will aggregate in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. No report of losses has as yet been received from agents, and it is impossible to state the proportion of losses to the risks. A rough estimate places the total loss at two millions. No loss of life is yet reported. The great number of people reported turned out of doors by the fire, stated at ten thousand, is accounted for by the fact that owing to the peculiar mode of life lead by the great population engaged in the mines, who work by shift day and night, in many instances the same lodgings are occupied at different hours by numerous tenants, and at no time are the household accommodations equal to the demand of the population. Nearly all the lodging houses and dwellings occupied by miners were in the track of the conflagration at the northeasterly coast, being in the immediate neighborhood of the mining works. The fire has now burnt out. All danger is at an end.

Confusion and Panic.

A Call special from Virginia says: By good fortune the wind shifted, and the south end of the town was saved, but the fire still swept on northwardly. The town presented a scene of the wildest confusion and panic. The streets were blocked with goods and household furniture. The recent scourge of typhoid fever caused the presence of many helpless invalids, who were being carried to places of safety by friends. Extortionate demands of owners of vehicles, in one case at least, caused a murder. A man on B street, endeavoring to engage a teamster, and unable to comply with his demands, in desperation drew a pistol and shot the driver dead.

The loss is estimated at $25,000. The timely arrival of a steamer from Richmond, and the exertions of the citizens, only prevented further loss. The insurance is about $9,000.

THE SHARPSBURG SHOOTING.

The Inquest Last Night—A Verdict of Justifiable Homicide.

Last night the inquest on the death of Harry Crouse—who was shot and killed at Sharpsburg last Sunday evening—was held at the office of the Coroner, at the Court House, by Coroner McCallin and Alderman Larkin. There were a number of witnesses present. The first one sworn was Constable John Christophel. He testified that he found the body of young Crouse at the depot about 2 o'clock Friday morning, a little before or a little after that time; thought at first the man was drunk; turned him over and felt something on his hand; looked at it and found it was blood; examined the man more closely and found he was dead; ran to a house near by and told the inmates there was a dead man lying at the depot; two or three persons came and recognized the body as that of Harry Crouse; called Dr. Robinson; had seen Crouse in front of Union Hotel as he thought about 1:15 or 1:30 A. M.; he was with Daniel O'Neil; they were talking loud; saw O'Neil afterward at Clifferty's with no one with him.

Daniel O'Niel, sworn—Knew Harry Crouse when he saw him; met him last Saturday night in Robb's ten-pin alley; staid a few minutes; they were talking about a party that was to take place; parted with Crouse about 12 o'clock; started to go home and met McCready in a saloon; McCready had a package of articles he had purchased; they started home about one o'clock; McCready lost some of his things and went back to look for them; he (O'Neil) then went across the bridge home; first knew of Crouse's death Sunday morning; it was about one o'clock when he went home; didn't know Glass; didn't know whether Crouse was at Glass' store; when they parted Crouse started up street and he down.

Edward Laha, sworn—Is toll keeper at the Sharpsburg bridge; saw O'Neil Saturday night about two o'clock; McCready was with him; McCready's bundle had come untied and some of the articles lost; he (McC.) accused O'Neil of breaking the package; O'Neil went back to look for the things; he was not gone more than five minutes; O'Neil then crossed the bridge towards his home.

Mrs. Reynolds, sworn—Lives opposite Glass' store; heard a noise about one o'clock; thought it was a rock thrown at Glass' house; heard Glass go out and say "Don't do it again," or something of that kind, and heard him go back in; the noise waked her; couldn't say what it was.

Joseph McGovern, sworn—Am a policeman, a detective; first heard of the affair about three o'clock or half-past three; Christophel awoke him and told him Crouse was shot; he and Christophel were first under the impression that Crouse and some one had been quarreling, and Crouse had been shot; saw Crouse and O'Neil standing under a gas lamp talking about ten minutes after twelve o'clock; next morning examined the spot where Crouse was found; traced the blood into Robinson's coal yard, across it to Glass' shutters, where he found a wagon hammer and markes on the window sill where an attempt had been made to open the shutter; picked up the hammer and found it fitted the marks in the window; concluded Crouse had been shot by some one through the palings; went to early church and afterwards arrested Glass and took him before Squire Keil; had O'Neil arrested; thought Crouse must have had some assistance; it was difficult to get out of the yard; the trestle work around it is eight or nine feet high.

John F. Glass sworn. Lives at Sharpsburg, across the railroad from the post-office; went to bed about eleven o'clock, Saturday night; some time afterwards was awakened by some one at his window; went out, and it being dark, stumbled over a boy; could hear nothing and went back in the house; had nearly gone to sleep when he heard parties walking near the house; listened and heard them say something, the purport of which was that "they were nearly caught;" heard them jump over the fence and commence prying at his window; he was much frightened; laid still in the hope that they would not be able to open the shutter; found they were succeeding, and got up, partially dressed himself, and went out; it was very dark; only had a one barrelled pistol and no other weapon; they were still prying at the shutter; thought he would scare them, and fired by the side of the cars between his house; heard two men run across the yard; then saw one man up on the railroad; didn't know he had hit any one, and went back to bed; didn't know Crouse had been shot until nine o'clock next morning, when he was arrested; was scared and afraid was the reason he denied shooting, and gave contradictory statements; his name was not Victor, and he never gave it as such; Victor was the name of the man who owned the store he was tending; after he shot he hallooed "you won't try that again;" there were cars standing on the track, and the men were between the track and the house; supposed it was about 12 o'clock when they first came; couldn't say exactly how long a time elapsed between the first and second attempts, but supposed ten or fifteen minutes; his store had been broken into once before through the same window; he slept in the store.

Detective McGovern was recalled and testified that there was an old mark on the shutter which the hammer exactly fits, and he believed that the same hammer was used both times.

Dr. Redlick, sworn—Held a post mortem examination of the body in conjunction with other physicians; the ball entered just under the shoulder, passed between the fourth and fifth ribs, severed an artery and entered one of the lungs; couldn't find the ball; death resulted from hemorrhage; Crouse must have had some assistance; he could not have got to where he did without help; he could not have lived more than five minutes.

This concluded the evidence, and the room being cleared, the jury, after a short deliberation, returned a verdict that Harry Crouse came to his death from a wound caused by a pistol shot fired by J. T. Glass while he was attempting to break into Glass' store for the purpose of robbery, and that Glass was perfectly justifiable in shooting.

O'Neil was released yesterday, and Glass will be released to-day upon bail, to await the action of Court on the commitment for murder. Of course this will amount to nothing in view of the verdict of the Coroner's jury.

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.

Commencement of the First Biennial Conference.

Interesting Exercises Last Night in the First Presbyterian Church.

The First Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Scovel's, on Wood street, was very handsomely decorated last night, in honor of the first biennial conference of the Evangelical Alliance. A platform has been erected in front of the pulpit and extended to within a couple of feet of the front row of seats. Each corner of it is ornamented with a vase filled with trailing vines. The pulpit is also prettily and tastefully decorated with evergreen, contrasting cheerfully with the dark walnut. A bouquet of choice flowers in the center of it adds to the general effect. The ferns and vari-colored autumn leaves with which the supports of the chandeliers on either side of the pulpit are dressed, complete the ornamentation, the whole making a picture of exquisite and modest beauty.

In religious circles this conference has been looked forward to with a very considerable degree of interest, not only because of the beneficial influence that it will exert and the good results that will tread upon its footsteps, but because of a wide spread desire to hear an expression of the views and opinions of the eminent men whom it brings together. The audience was a large one, but the church, which has a very extensive seating capacity, greater than a mere glance would indicate, could have accommodated a still larger number.

ORGANIZATION.

The exercises of the evening were opened with a performance by the choir, following which Rev. W. W. Atterbury, Secretary of the Conference, announced that Hon. W. E. Dodge, of New York, President of the Conference, could not, owing to affliction, be present. Hon. Felix R. Brunot, of this city, was then called to the chair. A very earnest prayer was offered by Rev. W. M. Taylor, D. D., of New York, after which another hymn was sung and the preliminary services were over. Among the local ministers whom our reporter noted as present were Revs. R. W. Pearson, E. K. Squiers, E. B. Snyder; Dr. Pershing, S. H. Nesbit, B. F. Brooke, R. F. Alsop, Dr. Ormond, J. T. Beatty, Dr. Reid, S. R. Frazier, Rev. Butts and B. F. Woodburn.

Rev. Reese F. Alsop, of St. Andrew's church, and Rev. Dr. Hill, of Blairsville, were appointed Recording Secretaries, and Rev. W. W. Atterbury, Dr. B. F. Brooke, and Rev. S. F. Scovel, a Business Committee.

WELCOME.

The first address of welcome was delivered by Hon. F. R. Brunot as follows:

Ladies, Gentlemen and Friends:—I can hardly occupy this position and suffer only the few words said by Mr. Atterbury, in reference to the absence of the President of this Alliance, to pass unsupplemented. I cannot tell how much I regret his absence. I feel altogether unable to fill his place, and must depend upon the good feeling of this audience for support.

In the month of October, 1845, in pursuance of a call from many of the most prominent Christian men of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, a general council of Protestant Christendom was convened in the city of Liverpool. The object of the meeting was declared to be the healing of the divisions in the Church of Christ. So large a number of the leading clergymen were present that the practicability of attaining the desired end was demonstrated and arrangements were made for a meeting in London, which was held the following year. At that meeting the Evangelical Alliance was formed. The organization was participated in by representatives from nearly every Protestant denomination and from all parts of the Christian world. The essential doctrines as held by Evangelical bodies generally were adopted as the basis of union—and the Evangelical Alliance stood forth before the world. Not a new Church, not the promulgation of any new dogma, but the same old Church of the Apostles and Martyrs recruited under the banner of Christian love, like the Apostolic Church illustrating the principle:

"Unity in essentials,
In non-essentials liberty."

HISTORICAL.

The Alliance has had six general meetings or conferences since its organization, viz: 1851 in London; in 1855 in Paris; in 1857 in Berlin; in 1861 in Geneva; in 1866 in Amsterdam, and in October, 1873, in New York. Each of these meetings constituted a great jubilee over the work already done, and a great illustration of the fact that Protestant Christendom is essentially united in Christ. Although the United States was represented at the London meeting in 1845, the American Alliance was not organized until 1867.

Mr. Brunot then went on to give the summary of doctrine adopted by the Alliance in addition to that of the European body; that there was no desire to give rise to a new denomination or sect, nor effect an amalgamation of churches, except in the way of facilitating personal Christian intercourse, and proposed no new creed, but take broad historical and evangelical catholic ground. He then went on to say that the very existence of such an organization, content merely to exist and meet in Christian fellowship, would have its value. But that such a body, comprising as it does in its membership the ablest and purest minds in the highest pursuits of life, in all parts of the world, and capable as it is of exerting the most commanding influence should be content with a merely passive existence was impossible. Already in various parts of the world, in Spain and Italy, in Russia and Japan, its power has been exerted in behalf of God given rights of conscience. And this is one of the functions of the Alliance, to interpose its protesting and protecting voice whenever and wherever the cause of religious liberty may be advanced or shielded from the oppression of either State or Church.

SPECIAL AND PROMINENT.

Whilst the American Alliance stands eminent among the other branches of the World's Alliance, it seemed to the speaker to have a mission special to itself, and prominently above all the others. It stands high above the domain of politics, and infinitely above the field of mere party politics. Nevertheless, its constituent elements are Christian citizens. Never, save under Protestant Christianity has freedom of conscience existed, and upon it rests the responsibility for its perpetuation. The protecting frame work of this principle of the Gospel of Christ, is our Christian government with its Christian usages and laws.

This was the blessed charge the Alliance had to keep. When the hand of State or Church, of infidel organization or unchristian corporations, shall be stretched out for the obstruction of our Sabbath, our public schools, our free birth or our Christian laws, woe to the Evangelical Alliance if its powerful voice shall not be heard and its strong arm raised to arrest the sacrilegious attempt. It can have no concern with polical measures of the government, but it becomes it to stand in defence of the Christian Sabbath, Christian education, free schools, a free Bible for ourselves and our children in the schools.

THE ALLIANCE PLATFORM.

The speaker then, as the President of the Pittsburgh Branch Alliance, delivered words of welcome to the members of the first Biennial Conference. But a few years ago such a meeting would have seemed impossible. Nearly every denomination of Christians seemed to hold the other as schismatics in regard to essential Gospel truths. Now the differences between the Christian bodies constitute practically no schism. He thanked God that so many of the Christian churches stand upon the platform of the Evangelical Alliance, and in behalf of his fellow citizens of Pittsburgh he welcomed the representatives of the grand army of Evangelical Christians to the hospitalities of our people. We had at this season of the year a smoky city. Where there is smoke there is usually fire. Let the fire and not the smoke be emblematic of the warmth of welcome with which we receive you to our homes and hearts.

DR. PEARSON'S REMARKS.

Following Mr. Brunot, Rev. R. W. Pearson, of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, delivered an address, welcoming in eloquent and cordial words, and in behalf of the one hundred and seventy-five Evangelical churches of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, the delegates to the Alliance. He said he hoped that their deliberations would be productive of good, not only to this section, but to the entire country. Dr. Pearson is an exceptionally fine orator, and his remarks commanded the closest attention.

RESPONSES.

Hon. W. E. Dodge and Rev. Dr. John Cotton Smith, of New York, were the gentlemen announced by the programme to reply to the speeches of welcome, but neither of them were present. The place of the first was filled by Dr. Philip Schaff, of New York, and the second by Bishop R. S. Foster, of the Methodist Church. Dr. Schaff, alluding to the remark of Mr. Brunot about considering the fires of Pittsburgh as typical of the warm feeling entertained toward the delegates, said that he knew that beneath the clouds of smoke which overhang this city there is warmth. He had always met with a warm reception every time he had made a visit here, and on one occasion it was altogether too warm. That was in 1845, during the great fire, when he happened to be in Pittsburgh. He was stopping at the Monongahela House and barely escaped with his skin. At the meeting of the World's Evangelical Alliance in New York two years ago, he had the honor to propose Pittsburgh as the place for holding the first of the series of biennial meetings of the American Alliance. He knew the warm interest felt by Pittsburgh in the cause of evangelization for two years and a half ago he had attended a large meeting here, preparatory to the general meeting in New York. No other city besides New York contributed so largely toward the payment of the expenses of the General Alliance as Pittsburgh did, and no other place except New York sent so large a delegation. For that reason Pittsburgh deserved the honor of the first meeting of the American Alliance. "The large assembly here to-night," said Dr. Schaff, "is proof that you do not regret your interest and co-operation in that Conference. Its influence for good has gone to the ends of the earth. The newspapers distributed its intellectual food to hundreds of thousands of homes. The books, tracts and pamphlets which grew out of that Conference have been translated into many languages. Last summer, during my visit abroad, I met many of the foreign delegates to the Alliance, and from all I heard the same tale. They were filled with gratitude for the Christian hospitality with which they were treated in this country. Their views in some respects have undergone a revolution since then, and they look forward to the time when European Cristianity will stand upon the same footing with American Christianity. Some of the European delegates were obliged to preach a succession of sermons about what they had seen and heard in this country. Their hearers marveled at it. They had no idea of what a great country this is. The missionaries have carried the thoughts and results of that Alliance meeting to India, to China and to the land of the Bible. In many ways are the beneficial influence of that Conference being extended. One gentleman, Rev. Dr. Stoughton, of London, showed me a book containing an account of his journeys in America, extracts from newspapers, &c. It was neatly printed and elegantly bound, and he told me that he intended to hand it down as an heirloom from generation to generation. Others regarded their visit and the jubilee that followed as of incalculable benefit to them." The speaker then referred to the indirect results of the Alliance, and said they were altogether too many to be enumerated. The revival meetings of Moody and Sankey he characterized as one of them. In concluding he said that there was never a better investment of American hospitality than in the Evangelical Alliance.

THE NEED OF UNITY.

The address of Bishop Foster, who followed Dr. Schaff, was chiefly in relation to unification, and the necessity of a closer relationship between the various denominations in order to resist the encroachment of evils which neither of them can fight alone. He said that his heart was one of the first among clergymen to take fire at the proposition of greater unity among the churches, and he was glad before God that that day had come. We are upon the eve of a new dispensation, and standing in the midst of emergencies which we cannot meet alone. Here in the United States we are apparently unconscious of the forces which are working in opposition to the welfare of our pulpits and our homes. The two great clouds which overhang our country, endanger its institutions, and threaten civil and religious liberty, are Roman Catholicism and Rationalistic Infidelity, both of which are assailing the existence of our Sabbath. It is certain that the civilization of America, and the Protestant Religion are the birth of living Christianity, and the products of living Christian thoughts. The Protestant heart and brain and their products, cannot live without a Sabbath. We stand in the presence of gigantic powers that are threatening our institutions. God is raising up a Union that will rally its forces around a common standard. I hail with joy the birth of this Evangelical Christian Alliance. The idea running through the entire speech of Bishop Foster was that the banner of the Alliance would be the one around which the forces of all denominations could rally, and unite under it in their endeavor to resist the tide of evil which, separately, they could not stem. He was glad to see that Methodist clergymen are becoming less Methodistic, Presbyterian clergymen less Presbyterian, Episcopal clergymen less Episcopalian, &c., and that the stiffness and formality which once characterized the meetings of denominational representatives are no longer observable. Bishop Foster was several times interrupted with applause, a compliment which was paid also to the other speakers.

At the conclusion of his address a hymn was sung, the benediction pronounced, and the audience dismissed.

The subjects for consideration at to-day's session, and the names of the gentlemen who will discuss them, are as follows:

I. Reunion of Christendom.
Rev. W. I. Budington, D. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Rev. H. D. Ganss, New York City.
Rev. H. G. Weston, D. D., Crozier Theological Seminary.
II. Increased Efficiency of Sunday Schools.
Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D., New York City.
Rev. W. J. R. Taylor, D. D., Newark, N. J.
III. Best Way of Reaching the Masses:
Rev. G. W. Heacock, D. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

The popularity of the "Two Orphans" at the Opera House appears to be on the increase, as the play continues to attract crowded houses nightly. This is the last week of its production in this city, and those who wish to witness its performance should secure seats in time.

Lecture Last Evening.

Rev. E. H. Chapin, D. D., of New York, inaugurated the Library Course, last evening, at Library Hall, by a lecture on "John Hampden, or the Progress of Popular Liberty." The audience was by no means as good in point of numbers as the subject and the distinguished lecturer warranted, but it was composed of the intelligent and appreciative portion of the community, who enjoyed a rich intellectual treat.

Trimble's Varieties.

The attractions offered by Manager Aims are filling Trimble's Varieties with delighted audiences. The new company have already become established favorites, and their performances give great satisfaction.

Beamer's Benefit.

The grand testimonial benefit to Mr. V. E. Beamer, on Friday evening, November 5, at Library Hall, bids fair to prove a success. The sale of reserved seats will begin on Friday next, at Hale's music store.

Library Hall—Theodore Thomas.

The first of Theodore Thomas' unrivalled concerts, composed of sixty distinguished artists, comes off this evening at Library Hall. In addition to the many other specialties, M'me Madeline Schiller, the celebrated Pianiste, who is recognized as one of the most prominent which has ever visited this country, will make her first appearance before a Pittsburgh audience, in the "Grand Raff Concerto" and "Grand Polonaise." M'me Schiller performed, during last season, in a number of Mr. Thomas' Concerts in the principal Eastern cities, where she achieved the greatest success, and she is reaping a like success in Western cities. The New York Tribune says:—As for the Raff concerto we are tempted to say that until Saturday night it had never been fairly heard in New York at all, for the performance on Saturday was so different from that at the Philharmonic concert early in the season that the work seemed like a new thing. In the first place the orchestra was so fine—particularly in the great crescendo passage of the Andante—that we might have enjoyed the concerto even with an inadequate pianiste; but Madame Schiller brought to its interpretation a clear and refined conception, a graceful and pearly touch, a poetical expression and a certain force and directness which we cannot praise too highly. Her playing was simply charming." Of the rest of the performance it is unnecessary to speak in this connection; the organization as a whole is acknowledged to be the most perfect in this or any other country.

REDUCTION.

Cutting Down Salaries in Allegheny.

The Ordinance Committee of Allegheny, last evening agreed to recommend to Councils an ordinance to take effect after the first of January, 1876, reducing the salries of the following officers ten per cent: Controller, Treasurer, City Engineer, Supt. Water Works, Assessor of Water Rents, Supt. of Fire Alarm Telegraph, Chief Engineer of Fire Department, and each member of the department, Chief of Police, and each member of the police force, Janitor of the City Building, Market Constable, Market Sweeper, Clerk and Assistant Clerk in Controller's office, Engineer of Water Works, Meat Inspector and all employees in the Engineer's office (except the Engineer in charge of the sewers, who is to suffer no reduction) the Engineer in charge of streets, whose salary is to be reduced from $1,800 to $1,500, and the Clerk in Engineer's office from $1,200 to $900. The Health Officer's salary to be reduced from $1,200 to $1,000. The Committee also recommends that the office of Meat Inspector be abolished and that the duties of that office be performed by the Health officer. They recommend that no change be made in the salaries of the Street Commissioners, City Solicitor, City Assessor, Clerk of Markets, Weighmaster, Messenger of Councils, Clerks of Councils, and to Committees, Treasurer's Clerk and the Engineer in charge of sewers.

FINE FURS.

Large Assortment—Low Prices.

The immense line of ladies' and children's fine furs, and the extremely low prices at which they are sold, attract universal attention.

The throngs of customers who daily visit the fur house of Fleming & Oglevee, 139 Wood street, show their appreciation by their very liberal purchases.

Please bear in mind that you will find here the largest and finest assortment of seal sacques, boas and muffs in the city; also, a complete line of mink sable, black marten, lynx, otter, &c., in all the latest styles. All are invited to come and examine our goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 99½.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 115⅜.

THE fuller details of the storms in England show that the devastation wrought was indeed terrible. The country inundated by the heavy rains is in the north-eastern counties, particularly that of Lincolnshire. The river sources are in the hilly districts of South Yorkshire and Nottingham, and from this region, favorable for the sudden accumulation of the waters, the floods descend and overtop all barriers in the low level plains to the eastward, converting them into vast lakes of boiling, surging, wreck-laden waters.

THE statement is positively, though not officially made, that President GRANT has determined not to delay much longer in recognizing Cuban belligerency, unless Spain settles matters with its unhappy subjects in that island. The war has had so many elements of barbarism, that it is impossible that civilized nations should quietly look on and permit it to continue. At all events, we are gratified to know that the President thinks the time has come to cease to forbear, and we are very certain that the nation will applaud any act of his that will tend to put an end to the unhappy war that has been raging.

THE Democratic Committee, if it may be so-called, in search of political capital, has a problem in finance offered it by the State Treasurer. He gives facts and figures to show that the allegation that several millions have been taken from the Treasury, in one form or other, during the time Republicans have been in office, is in every particular untrue. We have not the space for the document, but it is a clear refutation, backed by incontestable data, of every feature of their charges. Of course, that committee was appointed as a campaign dodge, but it will prove an utter and complete failure. The committee is about as weak as the House that made it.

AMONG the results of the President's visit Westward, it is stated that Mormonism will be treated more rigidly, and the noble red man taught that the Government can make him live peaceably as well as eat rations. It is time these two evils were disposed of. No good reason can be given for tolerating the defiance of law shown by the Mormons. They have paraded a system of religion which sets the laws of the country at defiance, and in many ways operates detrimentally in the development of Utah. The Indian question is one of the most perplexing we have, and, while the principle and policy laid down by the President are just and right, there is evident need of enough show of authority to teach them respect for the authority of the nation.

THE LANDIS-CARRUTH affair at Vineland, has been brought into fresh prominence by the death of CARRUTH. LANDIS is again in jail, and a trial will result, one of the most interesting in criminal history. The question to be determined is whether the shooting caused his death, and if so, whether so rapidly as to establish a high grade of crime against LANDIS. The physician who made the post mortem examination does not state his opinion as to whether the shooting was the real, or even remote cause of CARRUTH's death. The Coroner's jury declares that the shooting did cause his death,—and on this verdict LANDIS will be arraigned for taking the man's life. It will afford a magnificent opportunity for able lawyers to make reputation,—this trial of LANDIS.

THE Post is really stunning. It has discovered a "bonanza," and is working it with all the diligence imaginable. True, it is not the gold of truth it obtains, but only the deceptive glitter of false metal; yet it is none the less happy. City Solicitor BIGELOW has generally been considered rather too modest to figure as the central figure of a State canvass, yet the Post insists that this is his place. It cares nothing for HARTRANFT, and less for RAWLE; yet BIGELOW—why should he not be beaten and abused? Some capital must be had, and if not legitimate, then some that is illegitimate must be produced. So one falsehood after another is manufactured, and appropriately labeled a "bonanza." We believe the experience in California was that Bonanzas were rather dangerous institutions, and the Post may realize the same over its new political "bonanza."

WE ARE treated to missives, scraps, papers, and odds and ends of all kinds, to convince us that the status of the temperance question is different from what we represent. We wish we really could have a convincing document, that would show that the present shape of the question in this State is such that we could conscientiously commend it. We have as the latest budget, an address of certain Bishops, issued in 1872, in which the subject of prohibition is commended. This is all right, and we think the good Bishops did their duty. Then we have some resolves by Methodist preachers in Central New York, giving their views,—to all of which we do not object, as applied to their locality. But the real question for practical, sober-minded temperance people in Pennsylvania is,—will it best serve their cause to have PERSHING elected rather than HARTRANFT? There is no other question at issue, just now. Putting revenge aside, we confidently think there can be but one decision.

JOYCE, the whisky agent, convicted at St. Louis, was an important man in the conspiracy to defraud the Government. He was the leader of the Whisky Ring, and a man of unusual boldness, sharpness, and sagacity, and, notwithstanding the ability of his defense, the jury convicted him upon every count in the indictment. Thus one corrupt revenue officer will receive appropriate punishment. Second, the conviction of JOYCE was in reality the collapse of the whole Ring. It pulled out the very key-stone of the arch and let everything down in ruin. The whisky men had come to believe that the bribing of the local officials was equivalent to the bribing of every one in Washington, and that when they had fixed men like JOYCE, then they could go ahead with the most perfect impunity. The conviction of JOYCE was like a flash of lightning. It revealed to them the perilous position in which they were standing, and showed them there was no one in Washington to whom they could look for help. Hence they are fleeing in every direction from the wrath to come, and are ready to compromise, turn State's evidence, beg for leniency by confession,—do anything, in fact, to escape.

ONE of the bank cashiers has made a statement which, if equally true in its relations to the old banks, illustrates the benefits of the Exposition to our city as well as all else that can be said. It is, that all the deposits at that bank have trebled since the Exposition opened. The depositors are principally retail dealers, and it shows that the incidental benefits of the Exposition have been very large, and quite evenly distributed. Our hotels and street car lines have received large benefits, notwithstanding they, at the outset, thought it would be of no appreciable benefit to them. It has given our city, so far as the smaller branches of trade are concerned, a wonderful waking up. We cannot doubt that the larger forms of business are indirectly benefited, as the retailers purchase from the wholesalers, and thus the prosperity of the one contributes to the advantage of the other. The steam railroads do a vastly increased business at excursion rates. We hope they realize also their share of advantage.

HERE is a photograph of the city government of New York, and its cheapness and beauty under Democratic auspices, as given by the New York Herald, which will not be accused of over-drawing the picture to the injury of the Democratic party: "The extravagant expenditures of the municipal departments have added heavily to the burdens of our increasing annual taxation. Every intelligent citizen knows that the city government could be conducted at one-half its present cost if it were managed as a business man would manage his own affairs. One-third of the clerks in most of the departments is a needless force of employes. In labor done for the city on the public works nearly double the number of men are necessary than would be needed on the same amount of work done for a private individual. We may not have the same bold system of robbery in our public offices now that prevailed under the TWEED regime, but we still have shameful extravagance in the management of the public affairs." Thus though TWEED is retired, he evidently has educated his followers up to his standard of stealing. It is Democracy, the same, TWEED or no TWEED.

DENOMINATIONAL UNION.

The Convention of Commissioners of the Methodist and Methodist Protestant Churches, has decided on a basis of union, between those two denominations, which is to be consummated in 1877, in the city of Baltimore. We suppose the delay in the time for consummation is given with a view to the submitment of the entire question at issue to the conferences that will be held in the meantime. The basis, as we understand it, consists in harmonizing books of discipline of the two Churches, so that they will be alike in teaching, and in the details of Church government. It will be understood that there was much similarity between the two Churches. In point of doctrine they were identical. In government there were points of difference, but these were more of detail than of principle. As is the case between the Methodist Episcopal Churches, North and South, the word "white" was the sticking point that for a time threatened disagreement. It was finally overcome, however, and all looks favorable to final arrangement of the compromise, or union.

It is really amusing, viewed from an outside standpoint, that this word "white" should be so troublesome in ecclesiastical affairs. It involves, of course, the question of distinction in races. It is not, in any large degree, a political question,—that is one of legal rights and distinctions. It is rather a social issue,—for the presence of the colored people in churches set apart for whites, or largely patronized by whites, is rather a social question, than one of abstract rights and privileges. The churches very freely concede to the colored people all the rights and privileges claimed by them, but both the colored race and whites very earnestly discuss the question of expediency involved. At the South they did manage it, in slavery times, by the whites having the churches at certain hours, and the blacks at certain hours; but since the war the colored people have shown a tendency to care for themselves, so far as church accommodations are concerned. The whole subject is delicate and difficult. The point is, not to offend the sensibilities of any class, and yet meet a felt want in a perfectly acceptable manner. Thus there are those who would banish all distinctions between the two races, and others who would keep those distinctions alive by the formal declarations of books of discipline. Our view is that distinctive phrases, as "white" or "black" should be dropped; and if, in the details of administration the question comes up, let each case be settled on its own merits. This we understand to be substantially the basis agreed upon between the two Methodist bodies. If we apprehend it correctly, we certainly approve its general tenor.

The tendency toward union manifested by the non-Episcopal Methodist bodies is a sign of the times worth noting. It is simply illustrative of a general tendency, more or less active in all denominations in this country. The Presbyterians arranged their basis of union but a short time since, and are now working harmoniously together. The Methodist Episcopal Churches are strongly inclining to organic union, and other denominations show the same tendency. This inclination toward union seems to us to grow out of a disposition to ignore minor differences, and to attach larger importance to the fundamentals of Christian faith. The points over which men divided and fought, years ago, seem absolutely ludicrous now. Within a quarter century points of theological difference were fought over, that are absolutely ignored now. What the result will be none can tell; but there are a few tinged with the old spirit of bigotry that sadly bemoan the departure of the good old times when the color of a man's stockings were typical of the exact shade of his religious faith. For ourselves, we think the modern ideas are the best. The grand fundamentals of faith, substantially the same in all evangelical denominations, are what we live and die by. When we are earnestly alive to religious influences, the minor differences sink away, and the grand essentials rise to view, and become our strength and support. And these are the same, substantially, in all Churches. Hence the recognition of these, and the dropping of the minor teachings and doctrines, really indicates a higher plane of Christian attainment as having been reached. We think the union of the Presbyterians did them good. It rubbed away old prejudices and made them a broader minded, better people. So of the Methodists,—the effect will be the same. And even so of all divided denominations,—to grow up to the plane of a solid acceptance of the essentials of their faith, is to value minor features at their true worth. We are not in these remarks intending to advise Churches, as this is not our province, but to merely express our views of the general question. We think our Methodist friends have done themselves credit by the course they have taken, and hope the basis will prove acceptable, and the consummated arrangement be speedily announced.

A TRAPEZE performer named Onzolo, in making a flying leap, at the National Theatre in Cincinnati, on Monday night, missed the bar, and fell to the stage, a distance of twenty feet, injuring himself severely, if not fatally.

A SECT IN POLITICS.

Grasping a Shadow and Losing All.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

The writer of this has read with profound interest the letters of Rev. Messrs. Waddle and Browne, on the Prohibition question. Next to Slavery, I believe intemperance in strong drink to be the greatest curse of mankind, and that entire prohibition of the manufacture and sale of such drinks would be one of the greatest blessings, if it could be carried out in successful practice. But is there not danger in grasping a shadow, like the child in the fable, and thus losing all? There are other great interests at stake in the coming election—interests which lie very near the foundations of our civil and religious liberties. I cannot better define my meaning than by the following, from the last number of the Presbyterian, of Philadelphia. The editors say:

A SECT IN POLITICS.

It is in order to say a word on the late Ohio election, though we do not mean to speak of its partizan aspects. But it was almost the first important election in this land in which it was announced beforehand that the vote of one entire Church would be given to one entire party. It is impossible to say how many persons were influenced in their votes by the fact that this Church avowed uncompromising opposition to the public school system of the State, but surely some were. But one thing is patent—the vote of the Roman Catholic Church is dangerous, and not helpful to the party to which it is given. It may give temporary success, and sometimes in a district where parties are evenly balanced, it may help one side into continuous possession of power, but in the long run its embrace will be death.

The Protestant feeling of this country is hard to rouse; indeed, we often feel that Protestants are singularly apathetic, indifferent to the progress of the enemy, and careless concerning right which they should earnestly maintain. And yet this seeming apathy may be readily accounted for. Americans have learned to sink their sectarian differences at the polls. They separate Church and State in their thoughts as they have separated them in their National Constitution. Men go from the same sanctuaries, and from the fellowship which they find in the same forms of worship, and vote on opposite sides of great national or local questions. They return to their places in the house of God next Sabbath, and worship as heartily together as before. They will not carry their party into their church. So also they feel that they cannot carry their church within party lines. They are citizens, not Baptists, Episcopalians or Presbyterians. They are not even Protestants, for Protestantism is a form of faith, and not a form of secular polity. They would feel somewhat ashamed of a ballot which had a sectarian taint upon it. They are reluctant to admit that others are less fair and open, or more willing to use their votes for the advantage of their particular sect. They are slow of heart to believe that the priest has been manipulating the men who ought to be free and independent in the exercise of the highest duty which is connected with citizenship.

Occasionally, however, all this is changed. The manipulating hand becomes too clearly visible. The old Protestant feeling begins to stir. Suspicion is roused, and attention is directed to the manœuvring of the enemy. Then, if plotting against any liberty or right of the American citizen, or any principle of the American polity is discovered, woe be to the plotters whose intrigues are unveiled. The latent feeling leaps forth like a flame and turns every thing in its way. The carefully constructed platforms of the politicians go up into smoke or down into ashes. Fair speeches wither up before the wrath of the people, and demagogues and priests escape together into their hiding-places until the danger is overpast. It does not last long usually—fortunately for the fugitives from its fierceness; but it does its work effectually, and then it sinks to rest. And it leaves a lesson which the generation then on the stage of action rarely forgets.

By certain infallible signs, as well as by open avowals, it is now known that the Roman Catholic Church has lately made a united and significant movement. It means to destroy the public schools in the United States, unless it can control them, and make them subservient to its own purposes. It has acted upon this principle for centuries past. Whatever would not serve it must perish. Every Government, every institution, every individual that cannot be moulded and guided by its hand, must vanish from before its face. It means nothing less than this, and hesitates not to avow it. In the celebrated Syllabus, issued by the present Pope, the Papacy arrayed itself against the civilization of the age and the progress of humanity. The outburst of astonishment and indignation with which this arraignment of all modern ideas and institutions was received, did not dishearten the adherents of Rome. They stand by their programme, and will endeavor to give effect to all its provisions. We do not doubt that the late movement, in regard to the public school system of the United States, is a part of a general scheme, the outlines of which might be deduced from the Papal Syllabus of 1864. At least the movement is one which chimes in most admirably with the statements and arguments of that famous document which expressly condemned all schools freed from ecclesiastical authority. For the present, however, we are glad to know that the Papal party in the United States has failed—failed completely and disastrously. The leaders, we believe, have sprung their trap twenty years too soon. They have shown their hand indiscreetly, and the eyes of the people have been turned full upon them. The late election in New Jersey was proof that in that State men were awaking to the peril foreshadowed by the movements of the priests. What influence was exerted in Ohio by this awakened feeling we do not know, but we know that priests were seen at public meetings, and sometimes attempted defences of their Church and its policy. We are inclined to thank them for letting us know so soon what they want, and what they mean to do. It will be our fault now if they succeed. And the men who watch for currents of popular opinion, and construct cunning political platforms, would be wise to note the fact that the Protestant feeling is just beginning to be stirred. It will only require a deepening of its intensity to give it force by which priests and politicians will be swept away together.

WASHINGTON'S BODY GUARD.

Some "Astounding Discoveries" Contradicted—They were "Americans Born."

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

Henry Arminius Rattermann, the editor of Der Deutsche Pionier, and one of the Curators of "The Historical and Philosophic Society of Ohio," has made some astounding discoveries in relation to Washington's Body Guard, which were entirely unknown to Bancroft, Irving, Sparks, Marshall and other American historians. These newly-discovered facts are: That Lewis Boyer, who died in 1843, was "the last surviving member of Washington's Life Guard; that the Guard was commanded by Major Vanheer, a Prussian, and every man in it a German, and not one of the men or officers of which it was composed understood a word of English."

These astonishing facts were discovered in a letter written by Col. John Johnson, dated May 17, 1849, which has been unearthed in the archives of the aforesaid society. Johnson was an Irishman, who came to this country after the Revolution, and, of course, knew all about the Guard, for Mr. Rattermann, who published a German translation of this letter in the August number of his magazine, "considers Johnson's statement that Washington's body-guard during the war of the Revolution, consisted exclusively of Germans, unimpeachable," and thinks "it is strange that none of the American historians mention this fact." He adds: "Even Washington's biographers, Jared Sparks and Washington Irving, knew nothing about the German body-guard of the Commander-in-Chief during the war of Independence."

It would have been strange, Messrs. Editors, if they had mentioned it, for the whole tale is a "baseless fabric"—"such stuff as dreams are made on." Boyer was not a member of the body-guard; nor was the guard commanded by Major Vanheer; neither was it "composed exclusively," or in part, of Germans. The guard was commanded by Major Caleb Gibbs, of Rhode Island, from its organization in 1776, until the close of 1779, when he was succeeded by Captain William Colfax, the grandfather of Schuyler Colfax, our late Vice President, who commanded it until the close of the war.

Muster-rolls of the guard are still extant, and on none of them does Boyer's name appear; in fact he lacked essential qualifications required in members of the guard. To see the absurdity of this statement of Johnson's it is only necessary to read the following general order, issued by General Washington, giving authority for the reorganization, composition, and continuance of the guard:

"GENERAL ORDER NO. 11.
"HEADQUARTERS,
"VALLEY FORGE, March 17, 1778.

"One hundred chosen men are to be annexed to the Guard of the Commander-in-Chief for the purpose of forming a corps to be instructed in the manœuvers necessary to be introduced into the army, and to serve as a model for the execution of them. As the General's Guard is composed of Virginians, the hundred draughts will be taken from the troops of other States.

"Description of the men: Height from five feet eight inches to five feet ten inches; age from twenty to thirty years; robust constitution; well limbed, formed for activity, and men of established character for sobriety and fidelity. They must be Americans born."

Uzal Knapp, who died in 1856, was the last of the Body Guard. I. C.

Allegheny City, October 26, 1875.

POLITICAL NOTES.

MR. BECK's rivals for that seat in the United States Senate are multiplying. The latest man to take the field is Mr. Isaac Caldwell, of Louisville, a lawyer of great popularity.

THE New Bedford Mercury says that if the towns are thoroughly canvassed, and the respectable voters brought out, Rice will be elected Governor of Massachusetts by at least 30,000.

THE quiet joker of the Council Bluffs Nonpareil says: "There will be eleven more prominent candidates for the Presidency on and after the 2d of next month. Eleven States will elect Governors on that day.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem.) doubts "if there are half a dozen men of consequence west of the Alleghenies and south of the Ohio who consent to Samuel J. Tilden as the Democratic candidate for President.

THE Utica Herald says of Frederick W. Seward that he was his father's constant and trusted adviser. He shaped the details of the most important State papers of the epoch. He managed delicate diplomatic negotiations at times when the salvation of the Union hung upon the reluctant neutrality of foreign Powers.

THE following is the Republican ticket of Jefferson county: Prothonotary, J. B. Henderson; Sheriff, Frederick Crissman; Treasurer, M. V. Shaffer; Associate Judges, J. E. Mitchell and J. C. McComb; County Commissioners, R. A. Travis and S. A. Hunter; County Auditors, J. F. Hawthorn and M. H. Williams; Coroner, Dr. T. J. Bennett.

ON Friday morning a number of Republicans, who were in the neighborhood of Williams, paid a visit to the mines, and descended the shaft, visiting the miners at their work. A number gathered around and were entertained with a number of songs by Harry Reinhold, which they enjoyed immensely and applauded liberally. Several brief addresses were made, to which they listened attentively.

THE Democrats of Senator Wallace's District have nominated as his successor Mr. Thomas Jefferson Boyer, who enjoyed an unenviable notoriety in the Legislature of 1863 as one of the Democratic members who betrayed their party and sold out to Cameron. Mr. Boyer's share in this business was proved and confessed. His excuse was that he dealt with Cameron's agents in order to get evidence to convict them of bribery. His constituents appeared to lack confidence in his statements, and until now have shown no disposition to return him to public life. That is the kind of men the Democrats are now nominating.

PERSONAL.

CARDINAL MANNING looks like a fright when he wears his scarlet skull-cap.

MADAME MACMAHON collected 24,384,405 francs for the sufferers by the Gironde inundation.

ROBERT DALE OWEN lectured a few days ago before the law school at Bloomington, Indiana, on "Villeinage."

SECRETARY ROBESON's wife lost a camel's hair shawl, valued at $1,000, while visiting in Baltimore last week.

GEORGE D. PRENTICE's poems, compiled and edited by Mr. John J. Piatt, are soon to be published. Mr. Piatt's edition will contain a sketch of Prentice's life.

DR. KENEALY, of Tichborne fame, is always in trouble. He attempted to lecture on "Magna Charta" in Sunderland the other day, and the result proved that it is one of the inalienable rights of Englishmen to close the mouths of objectionable people. The meeting broke up in a row.

MRS. J. ELLEN FOSTER was admitted last week to practice law in the Supreme Court of Iowa. Her husband is also a lawyer at Clinton, Iowa, and both the husband and wife are partners in the firm of Foster & Rice. Mrs. Foster is said to be a logical, learned, and persuasive advocate.

THE Rev. Robert Collyer introduced Mr. Theodore Tilton at his lecture in Chicago last Friday evening, and in doing so said: "I have been requested to introduce the lecturer of the evening, and do it gladly for the sake of old friendship. I have broken bread with him in his house in years gone by, and he has broken bread in my house, and we shall likely keep on doing so as long as we have bread to break."

THERE has been recently placed in the Louvre, Paris, a statue of the Abbess of Citeaux, in Champagne, the wife of John I. of Britany. This statue dates from the beginning of the fourteenth century. It is executed after the process of the enamelers of Limoges; the figure is in the customary recumbent position, with the hands clasped, and is composed of wood, upon which have been nailed plaques of repousse copper, very finely worked.

MISS IDA V. SINVILLE, aged twenty, oldest daughter of Mr. R. H. Sinville, a highly respected citizen of Lancaster, was drowned on Saturday afternoon. In company with three other young ladies, Miss Sinville was precipitated into the Conestoga by the backing of the horse attached to the wagon in which they were riding, the deceased being underneath the vehicle. The others saved themselves by clinging to the wheels until rescued.

[No. 81.]

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing a temporary loan for the payment of interest on bonds issued for the improvement of streets and avenues under provisions of the Penn Avenue Act in the city of Pittsburgh.

WHEREAS, Bonds have been issued by the city of Pittsburgh for the improvement of Fifth avenue and other streets and avenues in the city of Pittsburgh, and interest having accrued upon said bonds and other interest will accrue before the assessments of the cost of such improvements shall have been made, and the money thereon shall have been received for the payment thereof, and by an Act of Assembly, entitled "An Act to provide for the improvement of Penn avenue and other streets and avenues in the city of Pittsburgh," approved April 2d, A. D. 1870, it is provided "That if interest shall have become due on bonds issued under and by virtue of said Act when there is no funds from which to pay the same, the Councils of the city of Pittsburgh shall be authorized to make a temporary loan for the purpose of paying the same;" now therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the city of Pittsburgh, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the City Controller shall be and is hereby authorized and directed to borrow, under the direction and control of the Finance Committee, in the name and behalf of the city of Pittsburgh, the sum of One Hundred and Forty-three Thousand Six Hundred Dollars for the purpose of paying interest on street bonds, as aforesaid.

SEC. 2. That the City Controller shall be authorized to issue bonds in the name of the city of Pittsburgh, payable not exceeding four years after date, and bearing interest, payable in gold, at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum, and said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Controller, and sealed with the corporate seal of the city.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, October 27, 1875.

Our banks report, many of them, an increase of deposits, consequent on the increased receipts of dealers, chiefly in the retail lines of business. Could the general features of business we now have be permanently continued we would say we have reasonably good times. How much permanency it will have will be indicated in a week or two, and then forecastes can be made for the coming winter. As it is we record the circumstance that a good degree of general prosperity prevails, and the lines of deposits show that this is very fair at the present.

The Chicago Tribune says of affairs in that city: The weather during the week, with the exception of Monday, was splendid. The wholesale dealers had a steady, active trade, while the retailers had a most acceptable benefit. The streets were full of people, and everything wore a cheerful, hopeful aspect. Collections were not quite all that was desirable; with the fact comes the excuse from country correspondents that the farmers are all exceedingly busy threshing and doing other fall work, and they therefore have no time to come to town and settle bills. They will be sure to get around in due time, as they have the produce to make all who deal with them happy.

The week past was marked by a steady decline in deposits, both here and in New York. Chicago banks have drawn on New York, and country banks have made steady and large drafts on Chicago, both for discounts and currency. As no speculative projects can be detected, the sign is a hopeful one, as it shows an active movement in crops, and generally in the business of the country.

The market for exchange during the week has been weak and drooping. The closing figures were 50@75c per $1,000 discount. The large purchases by the city, amounting to considerably more than $500,000, in addition to usual sales, simply relieved the market for the moment, but had no effect in strengthening prices. Very considerable parcels of currency were received by some of the banks from New York.

NEW YORK, October 26, 1875.

The customs receipts were $342,000. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $250,600. The produce exports were $3,929,000. The clearings were $24,000,000. Sterling was firm at 479½a481½. Gold opened at 115⅞ and closed at 115⅞, the two extremes of the day. The rates paid for borrowing were 1-64 and 1-32 per diem, and 3 and 2 per cent. per annum. Loans were also made flat. Governments were firm. Railroad bonds were firm in late afternoon dealings. The largest business was in Union Pacific land grants, which sold at 98; do sinking funds advanced to 89. Chicago & Northwestern consolidated coupon gold bonds were firm at 85⅞. Milwaukee & St. Paul, LaCrosse division, sold at 94, Michigan Southern at 108⅞, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy 8s at 115⅞, Cleveland & Pittsburgh consolidated sinking fund at 108, Rock Island 7s at 108⅞, and Ohio & Mississippi 2d at 66. State securities were quiet.

Stocks opened quiet, and in the general list there was a decline of ⅛ to ½ per cent. Missouri Pacific, however, declined from 10⅞ to 8⅞, rallied to 10, and still later reacted to 9½. Western Union fell off from 77⅞ to 76⅞, Union Pacific from 67 to 66⅞, Michigan Central from 61⅞ to 61, Lake Shore from 60⅞ to 60, Northwest from 38 to 37⅞, Erie from 17⅞ to 16⅞, and Hannibal & St. Joe from 21⅞ to 20⅞. Pacific Mail advanced from 40⅞ to 41⅞, and reacted to 40⅞. Toward one o'clock an improved tone set in, and at the second call prices in some instances made a partial recovery. Illinois Central advanced to 94⅞. During the last hour of business stocks were firm and higher on the general list. Michigan Central made the greatest advance, rising from 61 to 62⅞, with the closing sales at 61⅞. Lake Shore advanced to 60⅞, Pacific Mail to 41, Western Union to 77⅞, Erie to 17⅞, Northwest to 37⅞, Union Pacific to 66 1-2, Hannibal & St. Joseph to 21, and C. C. & I. C. to 4⅞. In final sales there was a reaction of ⅛ to ⅜ per cent. Missouri Pacific closed at 9 1-4, the two extremes of the day having been 10⅞ and 8⅞. Illinois Central sold at 94@94 1-4.

The Commercial says: We learn that arrangements are on foot to settle the past due interest on the Columbus, Chicago & Indiana Central first mortgage, on which default was made by the lessee, the Pennsylvania Central Company, last April. There is, we believe, a fair prospect of some sort of an early settlement.

A meeting of stockholders of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company was held to-day, to receive the report of a committee appointed to confer with the President and Directors of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company. The committee made a report, showing that during the three years and three months in which the road has been leased to the Atlantic & Pacific Company the net earnings have been $4,099,275, and the disbursements for interest on the funded debt, rentals and dividends (not including the quarterly dividend last declared), have been $473,987, showing a deficit of $474,712 on obligations contemplated by its lease, besides some $200,000 taxes due and not provided for. The committee say: We would suggest that if stockholders would come forward and take the $1,854,600 third mortgage bonds at 75 per cent., then the floating debt could be relieved, and by the stockholders foregoing their rental for a few years, we have no doubt that with proper management the future growth of business on the road will in time make their stock of value; otherwise the third mortgage bondholders, the most of whom are floating debt creditors, may ask for their rights, and in that case take the property. In any event, we would recommend that if the leases of the several branches, excepting perhaps the Carondelet, cannot be canceled, that they be so modified as not to prove a loss to the company operating them.

The transactions on the Stock Exchange aggregated 122,000 shares, of which 29,000 were Pacific Mail, 25,000 Western Union, 6,500 Northwest common, 4,000 St. Paul common, 8,000 Erie, 34,000 Lake Shore, 3,000 Union Pacific, and 7,000 Missouri Pacific.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, October 26, 1875.

There is nothing important to record in commercial circles; our merchants generally continue to report business dull, although it is probably about all that we can reasonably expect.

APPLES—Continue to come forward freely, but prices are still maintained, $3a3,50 per barrel for fair to good, and $4a4,50 for prime to choice.

BUTTER—Continues dull, with the supply accumulating, and prices are weak and lower; prime to choice rolls, 25a28; do. solid packed, 20a23c. Dealers all agree in reporting a dull market.

BEANS—Quoted, in a small way, at $1,90 a2 for mediums, and $2a2,10 for navies.

CRANBERRIES—$10a11 per barrel.

CHEESE—Prime Ohio Factory, 13½a14c for August, and 14a14½ for September; prime New York, 15c.

EGGS—Fresh stock, guaranteed as such, 27a28. The bulk of the receipts recently were pickled.

FLOUR—The market continues quiet and unchanged. Old red winter wheat, $7a7,25; new ditto, $6,50a7; old spring wheat, $7,00a7,25; new ditto, $5,50a7. Rye Flour, $5,50a5,75. Buckwheat Flour, 3a3¼ cents per pound.

GROCERIES—There are no new features in the grocery trade deserving of special notice, or to which reference has not previously been made in these columns. Business is dull, and prices remain unchanged.

GRAIN—There is a very general complaint in grain circles of dullness, and instead of improving it appears to be growing worse and worse. Wheat, excepting for strictly prime, is dull, with more offering than be disposed of; prices, however, remain about as last quoted; new red winter, $1,25a1,35; new white, $1,30a1,40; old red $1,40a1,45. Sprouty Wheat is difficult to dispose of even at bottom figures—millers have all they want of it. The Oat market is dull and lower; Pennsylvania and Ohio white, quoted at 42a43c; ditto mixed, 40a41c. Corn also dull; Shelled, 68a70c, free in elevator; Ear, 68a70c, on track; new ear Corn offered at 50c, with but few buyers. Rye quiet and nominal at 85a90c. Barley very dull, and prices drooping.

HAY—Baled is dull, but unchanged; prarie, on track, by the car load, $12a14; timothy, $17a20.

ONIONS—Dull; $2a2,50 per barrel.

POTATOES—The market is well supplied, and prices are easy, but unchanged; Peerless and Early Rose, 38a40c; Peach Blows, 43a45c. Sweets, $2a3 per barrel.

PROVISIONS—Trade is falling off, and the market is dull, but prices have undergone no quotable change.

RAGS—Good mixed, 2½a3c.

SEED—Sales of Timothy Seed at $2,75a2,80 to the trade, and $2,85a2,90 in a small way.

TALLOW—Is quoted at 9 1-2a9¾c for city rendered; 9a9¼c for country.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, October 26, 1875.

The market has stiffened up again, and it looked to-day as if another reaction had set in. Crude, as compared with Monday, advanced 5a7½c per bbl., immediate shipment being quoted at $1,67 1-2, against $1,60 yesterday. The general belief in well informed circles is that there will not be much change in the raw article for the present, unless some new territory should be opened up, and of this there does not appear to be much prospect. Refined is also firmer, with some inquiry, whereas for a week or more past there appears to have been no buyers; to-day there were offers to buy at 13½c delivered in Philadelphia and 13c in Baltimore. Freights are to be advanced 12 1-2 cents per bbl. on and after the first of next month.

The Barrel market continues dull, and prices are still tending downward; countries, $1,25a1,30; city make, $1,40a1,45; best makes of the latter offering at $1,45.

Highwines.

[From F. O. Boyd & Co.'s Circular, New York, October 23]—Highwines during the week closing this day have been rather dull, with a slight falling off in the demand. On Monday, 18th inst., the market opened with sales of 250 barrels at $1,17½ per gallon, and has fluctuated between that price and $1,17, closing to-day at $1,17, firm. The production has again been slightly increased in the west, the continued decline in corn inducing some distillers to increase their capacity. The total production of distilled spirits from grain in the United States on the 1st inst. was 183,348 gallons per day, (Illinois alone producing over 45 per cent of this), and on the 1st of October, 1874, 192,010 gallons, showing a slight decrease this year. With the present tax of 90c per gallon, the daily revenue from this source is $165,013.20. The following States produce per day 157,782 gallons: Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and New York, more than one-half of which is made in Illinois.

Alcohol tax paid is in good demand at 2a3c over the price of highwines.

Alcohol, for export, entirely nominal. Nothing doing doing.

Receipts of highwines and alcohol for the week 1,600 barrels; sales do 1,600 barrels; stock under 2,000 barrels.

A Poor Rule That will not Work Both Ways.

Some parties who are "long" on some articles dealt in on the Board of Trade are advocating the position that the "longs" can refuse to accept high-priced property on contracts, and they would only be liable for damages under the rules of the board. For instance, A sells B one hundred thousand bushels of wheat seller October, at $1,25; the market declines to $1.05, and the New York market follows suit; when A tenders the property, B refuses to receive it, and calls a committee to establish a settlement price. It is stated that parties on the "short" side sometimes sell cash property to advantage which they had reserved for their contracts and forfeit the latter, a committee establishing the damages on prices based on the shipping demand.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Cheese unchanged. Whisky quiet at $1,16¼.

A notable feature of trade on the lower floor of the Produce Exchange to-day was the corner in lard, directed against October "shorts," which was brought about in an attempt of the "bears" to cover. To-day the market for October contracts opened at 14 3-16c, and rapidly ran up to 14⅞c, which in the lard trade is a very marked advance. Considerable sales were made. The fight between the opposite factions is for the most part confined to New York, and prices advanced to-day, while in Chicago they were depressed. To show how the "shorts" are being squeezed in this month, it may be stated that November contracts were offered on 'Change to-day at 13⅞c, or 1⅜c under October, while only 13¼c was bid. Again sellers' options for the year were only a shade under 12⅞c, though the seller would be very careful not to deliver this month.

L. A. WELSH, Sergeant Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE stage of water last evening was two feet five inches, and stationary. There was quite a heavy rain during the afternoon, and the prospects at this writing are favorable for more.

THE Mallie Ragon has been up at Wheeling to wait for water.

THE Coal Valley's barge of coal, beached at Eight Mile, will be saved.

BOTH the Allegheny and the Monongahela continue to recede at headwaters.

THE John L. Rhoads and Wild Duck are announced to leave for St. Louis on the first water.

CAPT. E. B. COOPER will command the Emma Graham in the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati trade.

THE latest report is that the steamers Potomac and Fleetwood will be placed in the Cincinnati and Pittsburgh trade.

CAPT. J. M. PHILLIPS, formerly of the L. C. McCormick, arrived in the city yesterday accompanied by his new wife.

CAPT. JAMES YORK denies that he has purchased one of the iron monitors, with a view of transforming her into a steamboat.

IN consequence of the low stage of water, the Emma Graham will turn back to Cincinnati from Wheeling, leaving there to-day at 10 A. M.

THE new iron towboat, just completed at Carondelet, made a trip the other day, and performed satisfactorily. She is 125 feet long, by 25 feet beam and 4 feet hold.

A LOW-WATER stern-wheel steamer, 128 feet long and 26 feed wide, is nearly completed at Little Rock. She is to be run during the shoal-water season by Jeff. Baldwin.

CAPTAIN NEAL'S new boat "Abner Neal," built to take the place of the Forest City, in the Steubenville and Wheeling trade, is expected to make her first trip to-day.

SAMUEL SAGE, a veteran Cincinnati and New Orleans pilot, who retired from the river many years since, died on his farm, near Alexandria, Kentucky, last Friday morning.

JOHN F. NOEL's recent purchase, the Ida Stockton, is now on the way to Arkansas river from St. Louis. William Carter and William Riddell are her clerks, and Edward Carter mate.

THE light-house steamer Lily arrived yesterday morning, and it was expected she would depart again last night. Lieut. Rockwell is in charge, and Capt. Sam Parker is her pilot.

CAPT. GEO. MILLER died in New Orleans on Saturday night of consumption. He was well known in Louisville, having been in the coal business there in connection with his brother, Charles Miller, for a number of years.

THE Arlington left New Orleans on Saturday for Cincinnati, with 15 cabin passengers, 400 kegs beer, 100 bales of rags, 100 barrels of oil, 100 boxes of oranges, 600 barrels of rosin, 200 tierce of rice, 300 empty whisky barrels, 100 barrels of scrap iron and 200 tons miscellaneous freight.

A TELEGRAM from Louisville, of October 25th, says: The remains of George F. Miller, who died at New Orleans last Saturday, will be brought here for interment, his native place. He was of the firm of Miltenberger & Co., in New Orleans, and of the Grand Lake Coal Company of Pittsburgh.

CAPT. T. P. LEATHERS writes a very sensible letter to the Vicksburg Cotton Exchange. He is willing to carry freight at a reasonable price, but does not propose to turn the management of his boat over to any set of men. The veteran considers that he pays dearly enough for the business he gets at Vicksburg, in the way of wharfage, taxes agencies, &c.

A DISPATCH from St. Louis, October 25th, says rates to New Orleans and Vicksburg were advanced to-day to 60c a bbl for flour, and 30c per hundred for pound freight. To way points the figures are 35c and 75c. Commodore W. J. Kountz left this evening for Chicago, where he joins his daughters, Katie P. and Carrie V., and they proceed from there to Pittsburgh.

MRS. MARY BELL, for whom the colossal steamer was named by her commander, Frank Hicks, was, in her girlhood days, a Kentucky Blue Grass Belle, but for over 25 years past she has been the consort of Captain Jesse K. Bell, formerly of Kentucky, and now of New Orleans. Mrs. Bell is favorably known to the citizens of Florence and Tuscumbia, and also by the people of New Orleans and Louisville.

WALT, the Cairo correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, in noticing the Mary Bell at that point, says: The great Mary Bell arrived yesterday afternoon very soon after her gun went off, and our people poured on board in streams to greet and congratulate Captains Hicks and Grisson, and to inspect the new steamer. The two points about her which first strike the eye as peculiar are her tall, whitish galvanized iron chimneys and her immense height between the lower decks. Outside of these she is so admirably proportioned that she does not look anything like as large a boat as she is. It is only by comparing her with boats alongside that one gains an idea of her immense proportions. She had 514 tons of freight when she arrived, and was drawing 6 feet forward. She left here with over one hundred passengers. She got out of the Mississippi only with the skin of her teeth, having touched bottom several places after leaving Twin Hollows.

Meeting commences at 12 o'clock, and continues 45 minutes. Strangers in the city are cordially invited to this meeting.

A Bold Thief

About 7 o'clock last evening a man entered Gillinger's jewelry establishment, at the corner of Penn avenue and Twelfth street, and asked to look at a gold watch, as he wished to buy one. It was handed out to him, when he requested to have another so that he could compare the weight of the two; this was handed to him also, and after holding them in his hands for a moment, he laid one down and started out of the door with the other at the top of his speed. A chase was immediately instituted, but the fellow succeeded in making good his escape with the watch.

A Suggestion.

A meeting of the Republicans of the Fifteenth and Seventeenth wards is to be held to-morrow evening in Lawrenceville, between Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets, and a similar meeting has also been announced for the same time at McKeesport. They deserve to be well attended, for good speakers will be present at both places, but we have been requested to ask such of the marching clubs as do not propose going to McKeesport, to visit Lawrenceville. The residents of the latter place desire to have a good meeting there, and are of the opinion that it, in connection with a torchlight demonstration, will be productive of beneficial results.

Resolutions of Respect.

PITTSBURGH INSURANCE COMPANY,
Office 62 Wood St., Cor. Fourth Ave.
PITTSBURGH, October 25, 1875.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of this company, held at three o'clock this P. M., the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst, our esteemed friend and fellow Director, Robert H. Hartley, thereby depriving us of his counsel.

Resolved, That we bow with submission to the Divine will of Him "who doeth all things well," but we cannot but be painful affected with a sense of our loss in the removal of our worthy companion and friend, who always counselled wisely and for the best interest of this company.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family of the deceased, in this their hour of affliction.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of the deceased, and entered on the minute book of the company.

HENRY LLOYD, Pres.
HILLIS MCKOWN, Sec.

Political.

The Republican County Committee held a regular meeting yesterday afternoon, at which Mr. Jno. A. Fox, Secretary of the Committee on Naturalization, gave notice that lost papers could be duplicated, provided they were taken out in this county, on application to him. Mr. Diehl, from the Committee to make arrangements for the grand final parade of the campaign reported that it would be held on Saturday night next. Mr. George W. Wilson had been selected as Chief Marshall, Mr. John Froelich of the Ninth ward Chief of Staff and Captain William Aull as Adjutant General. The following meetings were announced for the present week in which marching clubs are invited to participate. Corner of Eighteenth and Carson streets, South Side, this evening. At McKeesport Thursday night when transportation will be furnished via. the Connellsville Railroad. At Lawrenceville on Thursday night, on Butler street between Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets, at which Hon. Mr. Poorman and Hon. Mr. Updegrift, both of Ohio, will speak. On Friday night at Etna Borough, in the Eighth ward, and in the Thirty-second ward, and on Saturday night in the Thirty-fifth ward, and at Oakdale. Another meeting of the Committee will be held on Friday afternoon.

A mass meeting and parade takes place in the Twenty-fourth ward this evening, notice of which will be found in another column. In view of the fact that there has been no demonstration in that ward during this campaign, it would be well for the marching clubs to pay special attention to it and turn out in full force.

NO RESULT.

An Abortive Conference Between the Puddlers and Manufacturers.

A long conference was held yesterday afternoon, at the rooms of the Iron Association, on Fourth avenue, between committees representing the manufacturers and the puddlers, regarding the wages to be paid the latter for puddling. It adjourned, however without any conclusion having been arrived at. The proposition submitted by the manufacturers last week, that the puddlers receive $4.50 per ton for boiling, was declined. At the meeting of the boilers, on Saturday last, they instructed their representatives not to accept that proposition, and as a matter of course, the delegates could do nothing but reject it. The greater part of the afternoon was spent in argument over the matter, the iron men endeavoring to convince the puddlers that the depression in trade and the decrease in the price of iron will not justify more than $4.50 per ton for boiling. Another conference will be held next Saturday, and if a compromise should be effected at further meetings the indications are that it will be on $5,00 per ton.

M. E. CONFERENCE.

Seventh Semi-Annual Session Yesterday.

The seventh semi-annual meeting of the West Pittsburgh District M. E. Conference began its session yesterday morning in the Liberty street M. E. church, Rev. J. A. Miller, P. E., in the chair. After singing the forty-seventh hymn, Dr. B. F. Brooke, pastor of Christ M. E. church, led in prayer. N. G. Miller was elected Secretary, and W. F. Connor Assistant Secretary. The roll was called, but, up to the hour of calling, many of the members of the Conference had not arrived.

When Rev. A. V. Galbraith's name was called, the Presiding Elder announced that he had died on the 3d of October. A committee on obituaries was then appointed, consisting of Revs. Joseph Gledhill, J. H. Rogers and C. M. Westlake.

Bishop Foster, who was present, was introduced to the Conference, and delivered a very interesting address. At the close of his remarks he suggested that as there was no other item on the programme that the remaining part of the morning be devoted to a general expression of thought upon the questions suggested by his remarks. He was followed by Rev. T. M. Hudson, one of the oldest members of the Conference, Dr. B. F. Brooke, Rev. J. H. Rogers, Dr. S. H. Nesbit and Rev. J. L. Deems.

PROHIBITION CONVENTION.

The Meeting Yesterday—Some Caustic Resolutions and Speeches.

The State Prohibitionist Convention commenced its session in this city yesterday morning, in Lafayette Hall. The meeting was expected to have been opened at ten o'clock, with Bishop Simpson in the chair, but it was nearer eleven when an organization was effected, with Mr. Powell, of the East End, temporarily presiding. The organization was completed by the appointment of a number of Vice Presidents and Secretaries.

After the organization, Hon. Jas. Black, of Lancaster, Chairman of the State Central Prohibition Committee, made an address, in which he savagely attacked both parties, Democratic and Republican, but especially the latter. During his speech the Prohibition candidate for Governor, Rev. R. Audley Brown, arrived, and was received with great applause.

Afterward a Committee on Resolutions, consisting of the following gentlemen was announced: Dr. E. E. Swift, Chairman; Gen. F. H. Lane, F. A. Shinn, Esq., Geo. Finley, Hon. A. M. M'Callister, J. D. Fulton, Rev. D. N. Pollock, Wm. Gormley, F. F. Caldwell, Rev. Mr. Barnett, Mrs. Allen.

A Committee on Business, consisting of seven were also appointed, the gentlemen being Arthur Kirk, Dr. O. L. Miller, Geo. F. Turner, Mrs. Geo. Finley, W. H. Price, W. B. Ross.

A resolution was adopted requesting Gov. Hartranft or any of his friends to discuss the prohibition question, in the Hall in the evening, after which a recess was had until 2 o'clock P. M.

At the afternoon session Mr. Mowatt, editor of The Commonwealth, New Haven, Connecticut, made a speech. Upon its conclusion Gen. F. H. Lane, chairman of the Committee on Resolutions reported a series of resolutions in favor of the abolition of license; pledging the maintenance of the Prohibition party; in favor of Browne for Governor; speaking in harsh terms of Hartranft; denying that assistance had been received from or tendered by the Democratic party; and declaring that the Republican party is conducted in the interests of rum and the desecration of the Christian Sabbath. These were all unanimously adopted.

Mr. Black, Miss Raper, of Ann Arbor, Michigan, and Mr. Mowatt, then spoke for some time, after which the meeting adjourned until evening. In the evening a number of addresses were made, but no business transacted.

The Convention continues its session to-day.

Will Soon End.

The comparatively mild weather that we have been enjoying for the past few days will soon cease, and when it does we may expect cold weather in earnest, with comparatively little intermission. It behooves everyone then to make ready in time and not wait until rain and snow and piercing blasts drive colds and rheumatism into you, and yourself into purchasing an overcoat. The best time to buy is now and the best place at De Roy's, 153 Smithfield street, where can be found a large assortment of overcoats remaining as unredeemed pledges. If you need an overcoat go there by all means as you can there make a choice of coats of all qualities and styles at infinitely lower rates than you can possibly secure anywhere else.

THE EXPOSITION.

Matters and Things Around the Great Exposition—Some Further Notes of Fine Displays.

The attendance at the Exposition yesterday showed but little, if any diminution, from that of the preceding days since the warm weather set in. The rain storm that came up with great vehemence immediately after noon, and the showers that followed for awhile, operated somewhat against a big turn out, but still the weather kept very few away.

And, by the way, the rain beating upon the roof with such desperate earnestness for nearly an hour was calculated to make the weak spots show themselves. This they did, and quite a number of drops found lodgment upon exhibitors' articles. No damage was done, however, so far as learned.

GOVERNOR ALLEN,

the shortly to be "Ex," paid a brief visit to the building yesterday, accompanied by Messrs. J. P. Barr and John G. Thompson. He was conducted over the building by Charles McKnight, Esq., who showed him the Art Gallery and all the most important parts and things of interest. A public reception was tendered Governor A. for Thursday evening, but it is not known at present that his engagements will permit of his attendance at that time.

GEN. GEO. B. MCCLELLAN was also heard from yesterday. President Nellis received the following letter:

ORANGE, NEW JERSEY, October 21, 1875.

A. J. NELLIS, ESQ., PRES'T, ETC.:—My Dear sir—Your most courteous invitation of the 11th, reached me only a few days since, when on the very point of leaving for a brief absence, so that it has been impossible for me to acknowledge it at an earlier date. I regret extremely that affairs relating to my private business, after my long absence, will render it out of my power to do myself the pleasure of visiting Pittsburgh at the present time. Otherwise I would be very glad to visit once more a city in which I have so many warm friends.

Wishing every possible success to the Exposition, and again thanking you for your most kind invitation, I am

Most truly yours,
GEORGE B. MCCLELLAN.

THE ART GALLERY

is still receiving some additions. Four pictures purchased in Italy by Mr. Charles Davis, of Allegheny, were hung yesterday. They are Italian pictures, of Italian subjects, and are quite attractive. Six of Hamilton's pictures were also received yesterday from Cincinnati, all of them magnificent specimen's of that painter's skill.

Their names and prices are as follows: "Scenery in Pennsylvania," $300; "Fishing Boats," $300; "Boston Harbor," $1,500; "Destruction of Chicago by Fire," $2,500; "The Memnons on the Nile—Solitude," $250; "Cleopatra's Barge," unfinished. The large painting, "Battle of Lookout Mountain," will be exhibited just inside the main entrance, in a small room set apart for that purpose.

PRESS COMMITTEE MEETING.

The Press Committee held a meeting last evening, at Headquarters in Exposition building, Chairman Fleming presiding, and Mr. Hazlett acting as Secretary pro tem. The attendance was not as full as the important business proposed to be acted upon warranted, and therefore a motion prevailed to postpone action thereon until the next regular meeting, on Friday evening, the Secretary in the meantime requested to notify all members by postal card to be on hand at the time and place stated.

A committee of five, composed of Messrs. Kincaid, Carr, Keating, Gilleland and Bergstresser, was appointed to receive the members of the press from Washington, who will arrive on the excursion from that place Thursday morning at ten o'clock, after which the meeting adjourned till Friday evening at eight o'clock.

NOTES.

The hog and sheep show will open today.

Exhibitors are most busy at presens in selecting judges.

The Butler Street M. E. Church Sabbath School will give a concert in the building on Thursday evening.

The chicken show comes off next week.

A hair ring and a gold locket have been stolen from the wax lady in the corridor.

In answer to the offer to pay the expenses of a wedding trip to the East of any couple who would be married in the building, the managers have received one response. And now it appears that the notice was not official, and the management don't know whether to accept or decline the offer made by the disinterested couple. They (the managers, of course,) are afraid it would not look dignified.

KRAMER & VOGLESON,

one of our leading confectionery firms, make a fine display at the Exposition. They exhibit in show cases sample of some of the finest confectionery, as well as others of a less grade of excellence. Their goods are taken direct from the stores at No. 51 Smithfield street and Nos. 177 and 179 Liberty street. Their samples show what the average stock is, and every sample is duplicated at the whole sale and retail stores. We shall have more to say of this display again, for it is worthy of special mention.

BISSELL & CO.

One of the largest and in many respects really the handsomest display made in the Exposition is that of Messrs. Bissell & Co., of No. 235 Liberty street and 242 Penn avenue. This firm puts on exhibition in the north western part of the main hall samples of the especial line of manufactures for which the house is famed, and the goods are arranged with as much regard to taste and system, as they are for the purpose of displaying the various manufactures represented in the business of the house. One side of the space—that facing Meller & Hoene's music stand—is taken up with the marble and marbleized slate mantels, ranges and grates, and on the other side, in the stove department, is exhibited a fine line of the stoves, manufactured by this firm.

The visitor, in "taking in" this display, first is attracted to the beautiful specimens of the widely famed Peerless Radiator Shaking Grate, of the manufacture of which the firm makes a specialty, they holding the patent. The "Peerless" is the latest, best and thoroughly reliable agitating grate in use, and combines in a preeminent degree the advantages of economy, cleanliness and heating properties. Among the special advantages which in actual use it has been shown to possess, are the following: 1. The bottom upon which the fire rests being composed of separate bars, can be thoroughly shaken by slight motion of the handle at the side, thus sifting out the fine ashes only, and retaining all unconsumed fuel, even the smallest cinder. 2. Cleanliness. By the peculiar form of the tile used with this grate, there is formed a well nigh perfect dust flue, which draws the fine dust up the chimney, and the grate being well set back in the fire place, no dust or ashes can escape into the room. 3. It is particularly neat and tidy in appearance, simple in construction, not liable to get out of order, and more pleasant to operate than any other grate, a person not being compelled to stand in front of the fire while shaking out the dirt, as this grate is shaken from the side of the fire. 4. It gives more heat from the coal consumed than any other grate. 5. It will burn any kind of coal, coke, slack, or peat. 6. It is highly ornamental. Every one of the "Peerless" grates is furnished with an ornamental open work screen or shutter, which conceals the ash pan and dirt, thus admitting of the use of the low-down fender. The summer fronts for all of the "Peerless" grates are of cast iron, enameled, fit readily and closely into position without removing the grate or any part of it, simply resting upon the shutter, and thus presenting a very ornamental appearance. By simply lifting it down the grate is ready for a fire at a minute's notice. This is the only arrangement of this kind in use. 7. Great strength and durability. Each grate is carefully fitted and tested, and is guaranteed not to warp, burn out, or clog. Out of the many hundreds in use the firm have yet to hear of the first one that has failed to give entire satisfaction.

These are perhaps high claims for a grate, but they are fully substantiated by the facts. The firm exhibit all the styles of the "Peerless," from the plainest up to the most ornate, and a few moments' inspection is sufficient to demonstrate to any practical man that the advantages claimed for it are far under, rather than over, the mark. The grates are set up; their action is shown, and the proof of their superiority is conclusive. The wroking parts of the grate are all alike, but the ornamentation is put on to suit the fancy of the purchaser. The designs and styles of grate fronts, fenders, and Summer fronts are too numerous to mention, but there is a pattern to suit every taste.

Messrs. Bissell & Co. had been in business for many years, and had brought the "Peerless" grates to perfection, when their signal success in this one direction led to a general demand upon them to complete the work of fitting out fire places by furnishing mantels. They were at last induced to yield to the pressure, and so added a new branch of manufacture—that of making marble and marbleized slate mantels — to their already immense trade. Like everything they undertook, they went at it on the principle that what was worth doing at all was worth doing well, and these mantels soon became as famous as their Peerless Grates. They exhibit a full line of samples of these mantels, and the beautiful and variegated marble and marbleized slate, makes their display to the practical visitors fully as attractive as the Art Gallery. Their mantels embrace two different lines of material—the solid marble and the marbleized slate. Among the the former—the solid marble—there are specimens of the Statuary, Italian, Dove and Columbia State marbles, and their marbleized mantels are made in imitation of almost every variety of the pure marble. These mantels are rare specimens of workmanship. They are cut and carved in many new and original designs, and with an artistic skill that shows the hand not of an ordinary mechanic, but of a workman who has a genius for sculpture. The carving is as delicate and as fine as that of a statute, and the graceful and ornate designs indicate that fertile fancy, as well as a true and skillful hand has been engaged in the work. The mantels are decorated with gold tracery in various patterns wherever such ornamenation is allowable; in other cases he rich veins of the marble are alone a sufficient ornament. There is a polish—a sort of silvery sheen over all—that is almost indescribable, and is never seen except in work of the very highest character—work that few would think of bestowing, even upon a fancy mantel. This gives to them, however, a brilliant apppearance, almost as much superior to the ordinary marble as that is to the grained wood.

The list embraces the whole range of marbles and marbleized slate, and they are made of various prices, from $20 upwards to the most costly. The samples on exhibition are average specimens of the general manufacture, having been taken from the warerooms, and the general stock.

While taking a general view of the Peerless grates and mantles as set up by this firm, the attention of the spectator will also be directed to "Bissell & Co.'s Pittsburgh Elevated Double Oven Cooking Range," which occupies a place about the center of the line. The manufacturers challenge a careful comparison of this range with any now in the market. It is made of the very best of iron, is solidly put together, can be used with water-back or other boiler, and has a sliding cover, which can be drawn forward while the cooking is going on and which will effectually carry off all the odors. The range is made with or without warming ovens, and also embraces a number of new improvements not to be had in other ranges. It is specially adapted to the use of bituminous or soft coal. The ovens can be thoroughly cleaned without removing the linings of the same. Taking everything connected with this range into consideration it is the best range in the market.

The firm also exhibit another specimen, the Triumph Portable Range, which is made with or without hot water attachment. This range is made from an entirely new patent, and is one of the most carefully and finely finished aricles in the market. Where parties cannot, or do not wish to use a brick-set range, we recommend with perfect confidence this range as a perfect substitute in every way. Where it may be desired, these ranges are provided with a cast-iron water box with pipe connections, so constructed as to compel the water to pass, entirely around the fire, thus furnishing a continuous and plentiful supply of hot water for all culinary and bathing purposes. The arrangement of this water box does not shut in the fire from the front of the range, but leaves it open to view, thus not interfering with the bright, cheerful appearance, or with toasting or broiling. In this respect it differs from all other portable ranges in the market. Another advantage is that the stove pipe collar is adjustable, so that the pipe can enter the range either on top or at the back. It is also peculiarly adapted for using bitiminous coal. The range too while combining these practical advantages is also in beauty of design and general appearance decidedly one of the most ornamental ranges made, and in many respects it is the very best and most perfect cooking range ever offered in this or any other market.

Turning next to the stove display, there is to be seen every variety of parlor, office, cook and heating stoves. During the past season they have added a number of new patterns to their already very large list, and samples of the new designs are on exhibition, showing the improvements and changes made. Among the old favorites we find the justly celebrated Old Homestead, which has spread cheer and warmth through many a home. The old Triumph cook stove is also there—the stove which has so signally proven that it was well christened, and of which pattern there have been over 30,000 sold.

Among the latest patterns is the New Triumph Cook Stove. The New Triumph has a number of improvements over the old style of stove bearing the same name, among which are the extra large oven, improved fire chamber, top rim, etc. These improvements are especially interesting to dealers, and their particular attention is called to the "New Triumph," which is the very latest specimen of perfection in the stove manufacturing line.

In this same department there are also specimens of the varieties of parlor, office and laundry stoves manufactured by Bissell & Co., of all sizes and of different ornamental patterns. The aim of this firm is to make the best patterns, and to never rest satisfied until perfection is achieved. This rule is applied in the making of the smallest as well as the largest stove. No detail of work is slighted, and hence the fame of Bissell & Co.'s stoves is widespread, and the brand of the firm is everywhere recognized as a guarantee of superiority. The display of the firm in the stove department, as well as in the grate and mantel lines, is worthy of the high character of the house.

It would be impossible, however to go over the whole list, and we must leave the display with this brief reference to the salient features. The house of Bissell & Co. is one of the oldest in the city, and it is one which fitly represents the reliability, integrity and progressive spirit of Pittsburgh's best business men, and the display made at the Exposition is one which is in every respect worthy of the enterprise, and fame of the firm.

LEWIS, OLIVER & PHILLIPS.

One of the largest and most complete displays made in the Iron department, is that of the prominent firm of Messrs. Lewis, Oliver & Phillips. Their space is located in the southwestern corner of the main hall, and is enclosed by a neat iron picket fence, in side of which a carpet has been laid, and the samples of iron, from the works arranged. The arrangement is a very good one. The two posts enclosed in the space, are surrounded with iron—one being concealed by rods of ¾ of an inch square iron, and the other of 3-16 round iron. At the west end standing in racks are the samples of round iron, manufactured by the firm, ranging in size from 3-16 to ¾ of an inch in diameter. At the front of this there is a piece of iron eight inches wide and 121 feet long, which has been curled up into overlapping folds, not unlike a spring. The remainder of the space is taken up with two "display boards" each of which is made of two boards, spreading out at the base, and coming together at the top. Upon these boards the various articles manufactured by the firm are ranged.

Among the samples are all kinds of bolts from 3-16 up to 3 inches in diameter, and of any length; all kinds of hinges, &c., a full line of wagon hardware, including all the irons used in manufacturing wagons, chains, wedges, crowbars, nuts, washers, harrow teeth, &c., the assortment being almost endless in variety and entirely too numerous to mention in the limits of a brief sketch. The whole display, though there is nothing but iron to see, is, by reason of its arrangement and the multiplicity of articles, a very pretty and interesting one.

A feature of this display is the fact that there is nothing in the assortment but the merchant iron manufactured by the firm. There is no other exhibit like this in the building. These goods are just such as are manufactured for the regular trade. In this respect the display is especially noteworthy.

The space is enclosed, as has been said, by a very neat iron picket fence, and even this is manufactured by the firm. The pickets are made of round iron, bent in a machine, and the fence is light, yet stout, and very tasteful in appearance, while it can be made as cheaply as an ordinary wooden picket fence. The fence has been admired by hundreds of visitors, and adds not a little to the generally neat appearance of the stand.

The trouble and expense which Messrs. Lewis, Oliver & Phillips have gone into, to make a suitable showing at the Exposition is in the highest degree creditable to a firm which enjoys such a reputation for enterprise and public spirit.

SWEETNESS.

Reymer & Bros. of Nos. 126, 128 and 130 Wood street, give a splendid idea of what Pittsburgh can do in the way of fine confectionery.

Said a gentleman, who had seen the production of the best establishments in Paris: "From whom do you purchase these specimens?"

"We get the plain sugar from"—

"What," said the gentleman, interrupting the answer, "do you mean to say you make all these?"

"Exactly what we do, sir," Mr. Reymer replied politely, "there is nothing on exhibition in our cases that we have not made ourselves, which we are not prepared to duplicate at a moment's notice, at our establishment, 126, 128 and 130 Wood street, and where are always kept a full assortment of foreign and domestic preserves, canned goods, condiments of all descriptions, as well as a fine line of Havana and Key West cigars, in fact everything that can be had of Duncan & Sons, of New York, and the other Eastern grocers, will be found at our house. Call and satisfy yourself."

GLASS STAINING.

Messrs. S. S. Marshall & Bro., of No. 62 Cedar avenue, Allegheny, show what can be done in the glass staining line, by workmen who have united with their skill as mechanics fine esthetic tastes. Their samples of stained and embossed glass are among the best class of goods in that line ever exhibited in this section. The patterns are new and the work in every detail well done.

THE SODA FOUNTAIN

is the popular rallying point these days, and Messrs. McClarran & McKennan, who have set it up, are being richly rewarded for their labors. The reason why people take to this refreshing Exposition beverage so universally is because it is made of pure chemicals, and contains no deleterious compounds. It is pleasant to the taste, and is as healthful as it is pleasant, because it is made of the best of materials and by experienced druggists, who know how to prepare a beverage that will be refreshing and palatable. Every visitor to the Exposition to-day should stop at the Fountain and test the qualities of this soda water.

CARPETS! CARPETS! CARPETS!

The ladies who go to the Exposition are especially interested in every display which suggests elegance and comfort for the home. This is the reason why they linger so long in inspecting the samples of carpets, rugs, mattings, oil cloth, curtains, cornices, &c., which are so tastefully exhibited by Messrs. D. & F. S. Welty, of Nos. 115 and 117 Federal street, Allegheny. These samples are all hung up on the wall of the dining hall, so that they are in full view of spectators up stairs and down, and the exhibition is very generally complimented by those who are able to judge.

PEOPLES' STAIRS.

The stairs for the people are Peoples' stairs—samples of the various styles of which are on exhibition. Mr. Peoples has won a wide reputation for stair building, and what he does not know about the business is not generally known by the trade. There is a great art in building a stairway, and it is not every carpenter who can do the work. Hence the display made by Mr. Peoples, showing in a measure how the work is done, is very attractive to builders.

THAT WAGON.

Many persons make inquiries concerning that grocer's wagon which is on exhibition in the Main Hall, on the north side, and some strangers are really surprised when told that it is the product of a Pittsburgh manufactory. The general impression seems to be that our city is not up to the highest standard in this respect; but that wagon is a standing proof that this idea is an erroneous one. It was manufactured by Messrs. J. G. Weir & Bro., who have their works on Washington street, this city. The firm is composed of skilled workmen, who have a thorough knowledge of wagon manufacturing, and every vehicle turned out from their establishment will stand the test anywhere. This wagon is but a sample of their general work, and a comparison with any other makes is challenged.

MARSHALL BROS.

The old manufacturing establishment of Marshall Bros., of Nos. 69 to 75 Diamond street, Pittsburgh, is represented in the Exposition—on the south side aisle against the wall—by a full line of samples of their manufactures. This firm dates its origin back to the year 1818, and it is one of the oldest as it is one of the most widely known and reliable firms in the city. The line of manufactures carried on embraces iron railing, cresting, wire window guards, shutters and cellar doors, hand and steam power elevators for warehouses, factories, hotels and residences, drilling machines, tuyer irons, pulleys, shaftings, tire benders, &c. They make their own patterns, and give special attention to the manufacture of good work. They use only the best material and endeavor to do thoroughly every piece of work. Their iron fences embrace a number of styles—from the light fancy railing for inside fences, to the heavier work required for the street fence. The patterns are all their own, and are very pretty, some of them being entirely different from any thing of the kind manufactured elsewhere.

They also make a specialty of the manufacture of elevators. They make two styles—one to be used by hand and the other by steam. These elevators are in operation in different parts of the city and country and the firm has never heard any complaint from those who have them. There are thousands of them in use and they fully come up to the representations of the firm.

In their general line of smaller articles the same care is taken and the same success achieved. They depend upon their work to speak for itself and the reputation of the firm thus never deteriorates for every piece of work that leaves their foundry is as perfect as the workmen know how to make it. It is one of the "old-reliable" houses of Pittsburgh.

COL. ROBERT MUNROE.

Col. Robert Munroe, who has charge of Power Hall, has a few specimens of work from his establishment, the West Point Boiler Works. These consist of several boilers of different patterns, and a battery from which the steam is taken to run the shafting of the entire building. The first is a tubular boiler, made with fire-bed around. It is made for general use, but comes in especially for use in the oil regions, because it can be taken apart and put together again inside of half an hour. It is but eighteen feet long, and yet is a fifteen horse power boiler. Its compact build makes the transportation of it easy, and hence its popularity. The next is a locomotive or portable boiler, which is rated at from four to fifty horse power, according to the size. This was also built expressly for use in the oil regions, but has been used elsewhere. Then there is a double steam boiler of the regular steamboat style. This style is made in all sizes, from twenty inches to six feet in diameter. Another boiler is an upright, which contains forty tubes two inches in diameter. It makes steam quickly, and is so compactly put together that it takes up very little room. It is arranged with glass water-guage, showing the heighth of the water in the boiler, and has a steam guage and guage cock combined. There is also a check valve for supplying the boiler, and a blow-off valve. It is a very complete piece of work.

Col. Munroe succeeds the old firm of Watson & Munroe in the proprietorship of the West Point Boiler Works. Under his management the fame of the old firm has been maintained and there is no similar establishment in Western Pennsylvania which enjoys a higher reputation. All kinds of work in the boiler line are done at the "West Point" and there is kept constantly on hand new and second hand boilers, so that patrons can be accommodated without delay. The yards are located at the Point, foot of Liberty street, and are the largest of any in the city. The Executive Committee did well to secure the aid of such a practical hand as Col. Munroe to get things to rights in Power Hall and systematize the display of the machinery.

THE ADJUSTABLE FOLDING CHAIR.

One of the greatest conveniences, and most luxurious pieces of furniture for the house, is the adjustable folding chair, which is on exhibition at the Exposition, and can be also seen at the General Office, No. 3 Sixth street, Pittsburgh. This chair combines five different articles of furniture in one, and the transpositions can be made without any trouble or delay by a child of ordinary intelligence. It can be used as a lounging chair, a regular lounge, a baby's crib, a full length bed, or an easy chair. It is the great invention of the age in the line of furniture. When folded up it occupies but little space, and weighs but forty pounds.

It is recommended because it embraces several special advantages in addition to the many articles of furniture into which it can be changed. Among these are its cleanliness. It can be taken apart and the cushions brushed, so as to keep them free from dust, while there is no crack or crevice for vermin. It is stoutly built and will stand the roughest usage. It can be used as a cane seat chair, making it especially valuable for use in summer. It is comparatively cheap, costing no more than an ordinary lounge.

All these advantages are peculiar to the Adjustable Folding Chair. Is it any wonder it is so popular?

LIGHTNING RODS.

There is no man who properly values his home who will let it be a day without a good lightning rod attachment, and those who have not yet put the rods up should take a look at the Munson lightning rod, exhibited by the agents, Messrs. Edwards & Hazlett, of No. 146 River avenue. This rod is made of drawn wire with sharp edges, and the advantages claimed for it are: It has the approval of the highest scientific authorities. It has an unequaled conducting surface. It has no joints or couplings. It will not corrode. It is strong and durable. It never fails.

UNION BROOMS.

After all there are few things which are more necessary to keep the domestic machinery in proper working order than a good broom. It is the good housewife's scepter of authority, and when wielded in the proper way, in keeping the floor clean, is an ornament in the hands of the domestic. The broom, however, should be a good one, like that, for instance, manufactured by the Union Broom Company of Messrs. Lang & Co. This company has a large lot of brooms on exhibition at the Exposition, and a look at the stock leads one to the conclusion that there will be a medal thrown that way when the Judges come around. The brooms are made of the best corn, and are full, and regular throughout. There is a "good body" to them, and one of them ought to outlast several of the general style, which seem to be made not for use, but for sale. The company exhibit a sample of the broom corn, which they use. It is thick and uniform, showing that it is a superior article, and that they are as careful in selecting material as they are in the workmanship. The Union Company stands at the head of the trade, and it is easy to understand why, after looking at this stock.

"THE GRESIAN SLAVE."

Nowhere in all the Exposition is there a display which attracts more attention than that brilliant corner where Elaine holds full sway. The barrel of oil which contains "the Gresian Slave" exhibits the remarkable purity and clearness of the oil, but that is nothing as compared to its illuminating and non-explosive qualities. It really can't be made to explode. It has been put to the most severe tests, and it was only after full proof of its qualities that the Executive Committee would allow it to be brought into the building. The fact that it is there is as good as the best gold medal premium in its favor, because the people can see for themselves its excellence, and seeing is believing, in this instance.

SCHARNKE & WILL.

In the jewelers' department, the display made by Messrs. Scharnke & Will, No. 149 Smithfield street, is especially noteworthy. It embraces a full line of watches, clocks, ornaments, and general jewelry, with silverware. This firm makes a specialty of the sale of fine foreign watches. They are regular dealers in the "Paul Breton" watches, manufactured in Lochiel, Switzerland, which are universally conceded to be the finest watches made. The stock also embraces samples of ladies' and gentlemens' fine hunting-case and open-face watches, in various styles, to suit the fancy of the purchaser. A fine line of bronze and statuary clocks are also exhibited. The assortment of jewelry is very fine, displaying some very exquisite articles in this line.

This firm also pay special attention to the repairing of fine watches and clocks, and has a wide reputation in this respect. It is a house which is thoroughly reliable.

HATS AND CAPS.

Messrs. Fleming & Oglevee, of No. 139 Wood street, true to their reputation for enterprise, exhibit a few samples of their hats, caps and fur goods in the North Gallery. This great hat and fur house is prepared now to supply the million with the best of goods, at the very lowest prices. Their styles are always the latest, and their goods warranted.

THE "WHEELER & WILSON."

The old "Wheeler & Wilson" is still the attraction in the sewing machine department on the north gallery. The ladies crowd around it, and the locality is generally the rallying point of a bavy of the fair creatures who are equally as plentiful with their praises as with their expressions of astonishment at the work done on the machines.

One distinguishing peculiarity of the display made at this department is the fact that three of these machines are kept running by steam, and upon them is done all kinds of work, from the heaviest to the lightest. No other display of this kind is made in the Exposition, and it shows the superiority of the machines.

The Wheeler & Wilson comprises more excellencies than any other, and for variety of work leads all competitors. The work which is done at the Exposition attests this. It is used by Messrs. W. E. Schmertz & Co. to sew their shoes, by the Gilliam Manufacturing Company in saddle making, and by the Eagle Cotton mills in making bagging. These firms make displays and show the work done.

The "Wheeler & Wilson" thus not only does the work, but carries the prizes wherever it is exhibited—a single instance being its great success at Cincinnati, where it completely took the wind out of the sails of all competitors. It is the sewing machine.

THE ESTEY ORGANS.

The far-famed Estey Organs can only be seen at the stand of Messrs. S. Hamilton & Co. They have several specimens of these organs on exhibition, and the people are occasionly favored with a test of the qualities of the instruments. The "Estey" has a clear, powerful, and very melodious tone, which can be distinctly heard for a long distance, and which is yet as soft and liquid as the last warble of a swan. It is an instrument of rare excellence, and is alike popular with skilled musicians and those who can only be touched by melody when is of the best character.

THE COURT RECORD.

Court Brevities.

CAPT. M. H. COX, who was charged by Wm. Barks with a violation of the Civil Rights Law, waived a hearing yestrday before U. S. Commissioner McCandless, and gave bail in $1,000 for his apperance before Court at the May term 1876.

A BILL in equity was filed in Common Pleas Court No. 1 yesterday, by Samuel H. Jacobus against M. W. Watson. The plaintiff states that he purchased a lot from John Frazier, situated in the First ward, Allegheny, with the understanding that Frazier was not to erect a stable upon the rear of his lots adjoining without building a blind wall next the partition line between his lots and the one purchased by plaintiff. Frazier afterwards sold his two remaining lots to the defendant, Watson, and the latter, well knowing the agreement, is proceeding to put up a stable without the pre-caution named. The plaintiff therefore prays the Court to enjoin the defendnat from proceeding with the building.

BREVITIES.

····The Hopkins-McIlroy single scull race, on the Allegheny river, takes place to-day.

····At the explosion at Roaring Springs paper mill on Monday morning, four persons were slightly injured and seven seriously.

····At a meeting of the School Board of the Eleventh ward held last evening, Miss Emma Hill was elected a teacher of the Primary Department.

····Virgin alley was distinguished by two rows yesterday, all among the women. The men stood by and looked on. Two females were slightly hurt.

····Harry S. Halleck, who attempted to swindle Arbuthnot, Shannon & Co., and Joseph Horne & Co., on fraudulent orders, was sent to jail yesterday by Mayor Phillips for trial.

····We have received a phamphlet copy of "Liberty, an American Centennial Drama, in five acts," by G. Edwin Brittain, of this city. Want of time obliges us to defer a notice of it to the near future.

····Officer Miller, of the Allegheny Mayor's office, had a lively time of it on Federal street just before noon yesterday. He was on his way to the West Penn depot, having a crazy woman and also Rachael O'Connor in charge. The crazy woman laid down and utterly refused to stir, and Rachael ran for liberty, Of course Constable Hays turned up, and helped Miller to get his women to the depot.

····West Pittsburgh District Conference, now holding its session in the Liberty Street M. E. Church, has, by vote, set aside its programme so far as relates to the evening exercises. Consequently Rev. T. M. Hudson did not deliver his lecture on "Fifty Years of Methodism," and Bishop Foster will not preach this evening as has been announced. This change is made in view of the sessions of the Evangelical Alliance Convention now held in the city.

PERSONAL.

Governor Hartranft on Monday paid a visit, in company with Postmaster Myler, of Allegheny, to the extensive dry goods establishment of Mr. Wm. Semple.

Messrs. Scott Morris and J. A. Musgrave, the popular Freight Agents of the Pittsburgh and Cleveland Railroad, are expected home this morning with browned faces, improved physiques and full game bags. These festive Railroadere gaily betook themselves from the haunts of civilization into the Lake Chatauqua woods, with rods, guns and dogs. What with boating on duck ponds, fishing for trout, and gunning in the mountains to the musical chorus of the hounds, their experiences have doubtless been most varied and exhilarating.

How to Vanquish the Stomach's Tormentor.

If the enemy of mankind was permitted to exercise his diabolical ingenuity in the invention of a new disease, he could scarcely devise one more worthy of his genius than dysp psia. The dyspeptic sufferer is tormented by symptoms resembling those of almost every known malady, and is often worried into monomania by these conflicting and perplexing manifestations. A favorite though absurd hallucination of the victim of chronic indigestion is that he or she has heart disease. Dyspepsia has often been pronounced incurable, but experience has shown that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will vanquish it, together with the constipation and bilious derangement which usually accompany it. Diseases of the kidneys and supposed rheumatic pains are also frequent concomitants of dyspepsia, but they, too, succumb to the above named invaluable corrective.

VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System.

Its Medical Properties are

ALTERATIVE, TONIC, SOLVENT AND DIURETIC.

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system, every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Cancer, Cancerous Humors, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Faintness at the stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout and Spinal Complaints, can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For Ulcers and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scaldhead and Ringworm, VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure.

For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Female weakness, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and General Debility, VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration, and regulates the bowels.

For Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervousness and General prostration of the Nervous System, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the VEGETINE. It purifies the blood, cleanses all the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.

The remarkable cures effected by VEGETINE have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact, VEGETINE is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and it is the only reliable BLOOD PURIFIER yet placed before the public.

PREPARED BY

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON, MASS.

WHAT IS VEGETINE?

It is a compound extracted from barks, roots and herbs. It is Nature's Remedy. It is perfectly harmless from any bad effect upon the system. It is nourishing and strengthening. It acts directly upon the blood. It quiets the nervous system. It gives you good, sweet sleep at night. It is a great panacea for our aged fathers and mothers; for it gives them strength, quiets their nerves, and gives them Nature's sweet sleep—as has been proved by many an aged person. It is the great Blood Purifier. It is a soothing remedy for our children. It has relieved and cured thousands. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it. It relieves and cures all diseases originating from impure blood. Try the VEGETINE. Give it a fair trial for your complaints; then you will say to your friend, neighbor and acquaintance, "Try it; it has cured me."

VEGETINE, for the complaints for which it is recommended, is having a larger sale throughout the United States than any other one medicine. Why? Vegetine will Cure these Complaints.

Report from a Practical Chemist and Apothecary.

BOSTON, Jan. 1, 1874.

Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have sold at retail 154 1-3 dozen (1852 bottles) of your VEGETINE, since April 12, 1870, and can truly say that it has given the best satisfaction of any remedy for the complaints for which it is recommended that I ever sold. Scarcely a day passes without some of my customers testifying to its merits on themselves or their friends. I am perfectly cognizant of several cases of Scrofulous Tumors being cured by VEGETINE alone in this vicinity.

Very respectfully yours,
AL GILMAN,
468 Broadway.

To H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.

Would not be Without VEGETINE FOR TEN TIMES ITS COST.

The great benefit I have received from the use of VEGETINE induces me to give my testimony in its favor. I believe it to be not only of great value for restoring the health, but a preventive of diseases peculiar to the spring and summer season.

I would not be without it for ten times its cost.

EDWARD TILDEN,
Attorney and General Agent for Massachusetts of the Craftsmen's Life Assurance Company, No. 49 Sears Building, Boston, Mass.

Incorrect.

It now appears that the statement that Wm. Wyatt, of Uniontown, was shot and fatally injured on Friday night last by his brother James is altogether wrong. The men had a quarrel but no shooting was done, a statement we are gratified to make. The report of the affair seems to have been a good deal of the three black crows sort.
